Set S. A. Japanese Aid Quota at $3275

CITY ACTS PROMPTLY IN CRISIS

Headquarters Established In Various Towns of District For Funds

$1000 TOTAL LIKELY TO BE SHOWN TODAY

Many Take Up Active Role As Red Cross Told of Distress In Orient

The great heart of Santa Ana and of Orange county, which never has failed those in distress, opened without stint to the sufferers in Japan today, when it was announced that the quota for the Santa Ana chapter of the Red Cross had been placed at $3275.

With press dispatches continuing to reveal new horrors in the devastated section of Japan, increased efforts were put forth to the procuring of funds to assist in relieving the distress of the stricken country.

In downtown Santa Ana tables were arranged where gifts for the earthquake sufferers were received.

The information regarding the local quota was received by T. E. Stephenson, president of the Santa Ana Chapter of the Red Cross. The chapter includes Garden Grove, Tustin, El Toro, San Juan, Capistrano, Irvine, Huntington Beach and Seal Beach.

Contributors to The Register's fund have expressed the deepest sympathy for the sufferers and have made liberal donations. Race prejudice has been forgotten.

According to Mrs. C. G. Violett, of Garden Grove, Japanese of the county, through their farmer organization, are contributing money, food and clothing direct to the Japanese consul at San Francisco.

The action yesterday of a Santa Ana woman in giving $127 to the fund, or 10 per cent of a legacy of $1270 she had just received, was given the highest commendation today by a large number of persons, who called The Register to give personal expression of their appreciation of the spirit of the donor.

"I wish I could give more," has been a common expression among those who have called at The Register office with their contributions.

At a meeting of the Red Cross executive committee here this morning it was decided to continue with volunteer subscriptions until next Saturday. If the quota of the chapter is not subscribed by that time, a drive will be instituted, according to announcement by the committee.

First Relief Ships Sail From America

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—Vessels from Seattle and Portland are steaming today toward Tokio carrying relief supplies for stricken Japan.

This armada of mercy will be augmented enroute by steamers from San Francisco and from other coast ports.

The naval supply ship Arctic is loading supplies at Mare Island, the naval station in San Francisco bay. Sufficient food to last 28,000 people for thirty days will be carried on this one vessel. The loading is being rushed and will be finished within forty-eight hours.

The Vega, another naval supply ship, is unloading its regular cargo preparatory to taking on relief supplies.

"UNLOADED GUN" TAKES BOY'S LIFE

Los Angeles Youth Accidentally Kills Brother While Playing With Shotgun.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 6.—The "unloaded gun" claimed the life of Derymoy Beck, 10, today, when his brother, Grant, 13, playfully snapped the trigger of a shotgun, believing the weapon unloaded.

As his little brother lay dying in the arms of the mother, Mrs. Sherwood E. Beck, Grant explained how Derymoy had snapped a cap pistol at him.

HUSBAND KILLS MAN IN AUTO WITH WIFE

(By United Press Leased Wire)

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 6.—Louis J. Lundy, 36, father of four small children, is in the county jail today charged with the murder of Charles R. Quigley, who was shot and killed near Whittier late yesterday while seated in an automobile beside the wife of the accused man.

The Lundy separated about ten days ago. Lundy, according to the police, blamed Quigley, also estranged from his own wife, for the separation.

When he learned yesterday that Mrs. Lundy, 27, had gone for an auto ride with Quigley, Lundy is said to have followed in his own machine and shot Quigley when he overtook him.

Lundy and Quigley were off workers in the Santa Fe Springs field.

U. S. Destroyers Aid in Plans To Open Wireless Into Japan

PEKIN, Sept. 6.—(1:40 p. m.)—Efforts to get into wireless communication with the Mitsui radio station failed today, due perhaps to further earthquakes in Japan or to severe static.

The American legation is making efforts to establish radio connection with the American destroyers, which are being placed at regular intervals to make a wireless bridge between China and Japan.

Sporadic radio dispatches from Osaka indicate casualties in the mountain districts

ONE DEAD, 4 INJURED IN BIG BLAST

Nitroglycerine Explosion Is Felt Over Wide Area In S. F. Bay District

(By United Press Leased Wire)

MARTINEZ, Calif., Sept. 6.—One man was killed and four were injured when a ton of nitroglycerine being processed at the plant of the Hercules Powder company near Pinole, exploded at 10:35 this morning.

The dead: Frank Haggerty, 55, employed in the plant for 15 years.

The injured: Sam Silcock, foreman of the acid plant, cut, bruised and perhaps injured internally; Charles Lemkuhl, cut and bruised; Charles Florentine, crushed by falling timbers; Pete Haguer, cut and bruised by flying timbers.

The nitroglycerine which exploded had been recently stored in the barricaded tank, where it is taken before being used in the mixing plant. What caused it to explode has not been ascertained by plant officials.

Roots of surrounding buildings were blown off by the concussion of the explosion, the rear of the plant office was wrecked and all windows broken, the houses scattered about the plant had windows and doors blown in. Many surrounding villages reported windows broken. The acid plant is 300 yards distant from the storage tank and the main office 600 yards distant.

This is the first explosion suffered at the Hercules plant since January 7, 1919, when four men were killed. Seventy men are employed at the plant.

70 FOREIGNERS DIE IN GREAT JAPAN QUAKE

(By United Press Leased Wire)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—American and other foreign casualties in Yokohama now total about 70, the state department was advised today by American Consul Davis at Shanghai.

Davis reported that in Tokio there have been no foreign casualties, according to his information. At Hakone, a mountain resort near Tokio, there were three foreign casualties, according to Davis' information.

The names of the Americans and other foreigners killed and injured have not yet been verified, he said. Secretary of State Hughes upon his return to Washington today issued a statement declaring the United States is "inexpressibly shocked" at the Japanese disaster.

He praised Japan and said that "the historic friendship of the two peoples was cemented at the Washington conference."

Report New Deadlock In Mine Conference

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 6.—The final concessions of anthracite operators and miners were discussed for more than two hours and a half at a meeting today of the two parties and Governor Pinchot.

When the session recessed for lunch there was no indication that either side had receded from its position.

Plans Action Soon For New Hospital

S. H. Finley, temporary chairman of the citizens' committee named recently to organize plans for a drive to complete financing of a new hospital for Santa Ana, announced today that his committee would be called together as soon as some of the members now absent on vacations return to the city.

He today expected it probably would be possible to get the committee together the latter part of next week for discussion and decision as to the best plan to work out the financing problem. It is proposed to raise $100,000 to complete the project, he said.

"30" BULLETINS

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 6.—Walk-out of I. W. W. members through the northwest was ordered here this afternoon effective immediately. Members engaged in construction work, lumber mills and other industries were instructed to lay down their tools and quit. The strike was called in protest against the continued imprisonment of political prisoners, jailed during the war, officials of the I. W. W. announced in explanation.

Three Hotels Thrown Off Cliff; Occupants Perish

PEKIN, Sept. 6.—Three hotels in the bluff residence district of Yokohama were hurled over a cliff by the first tremendous earth shock there and their occupants dashed to death, according to an eye witness of what was perhaps the most terrific single incident of the quake disaster.

Only a few pitifully injured survivors crawled from the ruins, the witness, Rodrick O. Matheson, correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, said upon arrival at Kobe. A majority of the residents of the bluff section perished.

The Oriental Palace hotel was almost swallowed up by the quake. It disappeared into a great rent that opened suddenly in the heaving earth until only the top story and a half remained visible above the ground. That caught fire. Casualties here were terrible.

Frantic calls for help went unanswered as the frequent shocks and fires drove away would-be rescuers.

PLACE DEATHS IN QUAKE AT 40,000 IN LATEST CHECK

(By United Press Leased Wire)

OSAKA, Sept. 6.—The total of dead in Tokio and Yokohama as a result of Saturday's earthquake is officially estimated at between 30,000 and 40,000.

The number of houses destroyed is estimated at 250,000. Most of these were burned in the numerous fires that broke out after the first quake.

One of the serious individual instances of property destruction was burning of the imperial university, which contained half a million invaluable books.

Tales of terror that gripped Tokio and Yokohama as flames followed the first devastation wrought by Saturday's quakes came to Osaka today over the highway choked with an endless stream of refugees.

Fright Kills Many.

Thousands of Japanese seemed to die simply of heart failure, one survivor to arrive here declared. The fiery furnace into which the capital's business section was changed in a few moments by the heaving earth shocks was so terrifying a sight that many inhabitants merely lay down where they were and died.

It still remains impossible to estimate accurately the scope of the calamity or its cost.

With partial establishment of communication with Yokohama, the picture of what went on in that city, reported to have suffered more severely than the capital, becomes partly discernible.

One coolie stands out particularly in the minds of those who saw Yokohama in the days that followed the first quakes. They tell of how he stood, surrounded by flames, in the doorway of a fiercely burning building, helping women and children through a blazing passage until he fell dead—merciful asphyxiation freeing his seared body under its smoldering clothing from further torture.

Pray in Flames.

The stoicism with which groups in the doomed city met their fate when gaping earth and walls of fire made escape impossible was recounted by others who had watched the destruction, powerless to give aid. When cut off by flames, the population knelt in the debris of the street and prayed, seemingly heedless of nearby fires, not caring for their own fate, callous to the misery of others.

Small floods ran in the streets of the lower part of the city, geyers of water spurting through yawning cracks in the earth rent by the vertical heavings of the quake.

It was in Yokohama that most of the Americans and foreigners who were crowded to her rail yards, lost their lives.

Those of the refugees arriving here today said that by that time practically all the city's foreign survivors had been taken aboard fifteen steamers in the bay. Only about a dozen, including a few Americans, remained in Yokohama.

One French liner, the Andre Leon, was crowded to her rail yards with European refugees. These included the French ambassador to Tokio, who walked to Yokohama after the quake.

Several of the foreigners who remained in the stricken port city were assisting the Japanese volunteer police to keep order and were looking after the handful of foreigners left on hand.

A foreign refugee from Yokohama said that the entire city fell at the first earth shock and that the place was an indescribable mass of ruin.

Tokio, according to the latest advices reaching here by airplane, is filled with wild rumors which spread among the hungry refugees and keep them in a constant state of terror.

Worn out by the scenes of destruction they have witnessed, their efforts to escape and lack of food and decent water, many of the survivors are afraid to sleep.

What is going to happen next?

AMERICAN DEAD IN JAP QUAKE ARE GIVEN

(By United Press Leased Wire)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—The death list of Americans in the Tokio-Yokohama catastrophe, as officially reported to the state department, now includes:

Max Kirjassoff, United States acting consular general at Yokohama.

Mrs. Kirjassoff.

E. J. Babbitt, assistant commercial attaché of the United States embassy, Tokio.

Doris Babbitt, his daughter.

Vice-Consul Paul Jenks, Yokohama.

L. Zembach, chief pharmacist, United States naval hospital, Yokohama.

Mrs. Zembach.

Pharmacist Paul E. Cannon and Ingolia, United States naval hospital, Yokohama.

Mrs. H. C. Burnell, San Francisco, at Yokohama.

H. W. Morse, International Banking corporation, Yokohama.

Captain Stinson of the steamship Steel Navigator, Yokohama.

Robert Swain, Yokohama.

Missing and probably dead: Mr. Sheeley of Standard Oil company.

McHenry Holbrook of International Banking corporation.

Mrs. Mendelson of Princeton, N. J.

ARMY SEIZES MORE GREEK TERRITORY

LONDON, Sept. 6.—New antagonistic moves on the part of Italy have heightened pessimism here. Italian marines occupied three more islands in the vicinity of Corfu.

Italy filed with Greece a claim for from fifteen million lire to twenty million lire as the first costs of the occupation of Greek territory as a punitive measure for slaying of five Italian commissioners at Janina.

A regiment of infantry was garrisoned at the islets of Paxos and Antipaxos.

Arrest Journalist.

A Greek journalist named Iramenes was arrested by Italians while in a sailing vessel on the high seas.

Italian men of war swarmed about the little group of islands which Italy has seized, torpedo boats hovering about, watching all Greek vessels that arrive or leave.

A meeting of volunteer Garibaldians who fought for Greece against Turkey in 1887, adopted a resolution against the Greece decree and decided to return their Greek war decorations.

Premier Mussolini has made a speech at Rome, declaring that Great Britain and other countries sympathetic toward Greece need a demonstration of Italy's righteousness.

Fear Great Clash.

These developments caused no little apprehension in this country, where it is felt an outbreak of war between Greece and Italy must inevitably be followed by all the Balkans being drawn in.

At Plymouth today a trades union congress, representing over four million British workers, passed a resolution to the effect that it viewed with deep concern the immediate danger of a tragic development in the Italo-Greek dispute and urging both nations to abstain from hostilities and arbitrate through the league of nations.

LEAGUE AVERTS BREAK WITH ITALY IN CRISIS

GENEVA, Sept. 6.—The league of nations council avoided a break with Italy late today.

After deciding at a private session to reaffirm the council's competency to adjudicate the Greco-Italian dispute, the only action the council took at a public meeting later was to recommend that the council of ambassadors at Paris find a basis for settlement of Italy's demands for reparations for the death of her commissioners at Janina.

The league council, despite pressure by a majority of its members and of delegates to the assembly which had adjourned pending action by the smaller body, did not enter into the question of whether Italy's occupation of Corfu was a violation of Article X.

Answering Mussolini's challenge of incompetency, the council still reserved for the league the right to act in this matter, but took no action.

GREEK FLEET SEEKS TO AVERT CLASH WITH ITALY

ATHENS, Sept. 6.—To avoid the risk of a clash with the Italian navy, Greece today ordered all her warships to retire into the bay of Volos.

Messages Regarding Americans In Quake Zone are Conflicting

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Major Crane of the American embassy staff at Tokio, and Mrs. Crane were reported to the state department today as missing in a message from Ambassador Woods.

Woods repeated the statement of a previous message that all the rest of the embassy personnel were safe. Two cables were received from Woods after a long wait for information.

"Entire embassy staff reported safe with the exception of Major and Mrs. Crane, not yet heard from. Consul Kirjassoff and family and Miss Doris Babbitt reported killed," he cabled.

The department thought this message was somewhat delayed in transmission as earlier advices reported the two children of the Kirjassoff family saved.

Lieut. Charles Burnett, Springfield, Ills., military attaché at Tokio, reported killed in the wrecking of a train during the quake, is safe. A message from him was received by the war department today. Burnett also notified the department that Major C. W. Crane and Mrs. Crane had left Yokohama before the disaster and were safe.

This was the Major Crane that Woods reported missing. Crane, whose home is in New Mexico, is a language officer. Burnett's message came from Iwak, the Japanese radio station near Tokio.

The second message from

MOB PLACES PASTOR ON CAR TRACK

Preacher Accused of Arson Is Found Bound to Rails by Interurban Train Crew.

WALDRON, Ind., Sept. 6.—The Rev. U. S. Johnson, Baptist minister here, was found bound and tied to the rails of an interurban track today.

Johnson said he was seized by a mob and tied to the track. When found by a train crew he had wriggled from the rails but was still helpless.

He was recently charged with arson in connection with the burning of his church.

HUGE FORTUNE AT STAKE IN COURT ROW

(By United Press Leased Wire)

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 6.—Royalty and riches are involved in the suit brought by Attorney Herman L. Roth to recover $2,450,000 from the Princess Olay Humphrey Hassan Broadwood which was to be tried here today.

Roth claims that the princess, a former stage beauty, hired him to obtain a divorce from Prince Hassan, an Egyptian millionaire, and contracted to share equally any property settlement obtained.

Before the divorce action was completed, the prince was killed while fighting in the Turkish army. The British government, it is said, turned over to the widow his real estate, amounting to $4,900,000.

Roth charges the princess married Captain Broadwood, and failed to turn over to him his half of the property division.

Firebug Suspect In Confession, Report

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 6.—Police today claimed they had obtained a confession from Charles C. Alfred, 30, in which he admitted responsibility for the $650,000 oil fire at the General Petroleum company's tank farm at San Pedro on August 17.

Alfred was arrested on the streets of San Pedro during the fire and held for observation as to his sanity. He was subsequently removed to the Norfolk hospital for the insane.

Fire Comes Quickly

HUGE FIRE IN TOKIO IS OUT

COUNT G. YAMAMOTO, Who took the oath of office as premier of Japan on Saturday while the earth was trembling from a series of earthquakes and Tokio was burning. Yamamoto and his cabinet were forced to take the oath of office on the lawn in front of the premier's residence because of the danger from falling buildings.

Soldiers Hasten Cremation of Bodies As Stench Sweeps City

WITNESS REVEALS HORROR OF QUAKE

Records Show 612 Earth Shocks Felt In City During Two Days

(By United Press Leased Wire)

TOKIO, Sept. 5.—(By courier Sept. 6).—A merciful rain has fallen upon Tokio.

Like an angry beast, resisting efforts to drive it from a bloody feast of human bodies and habitations, the great fire which had swept the city for three days and three nights, hissing and enveloping the wreckage in clouds of steam, has finally died down. This enables work of rescue to proceed in more orderly fashion and scores of the injured are being brought in to relief stations.

The stench of corpses is becoming almost unbearable. Dead litter the streets in some sections. Among the ruins of burned houses are half incinerated bodies.

Hasten Cremation.

Soldiers have taken over the task of endeavoring to save the city from the consequences that might naturally follow such conditions. Burials are impossible, and the soldiers are being thrust forward toward hastening cremations.

American Ambassador Woods and other foreign representatives and their staffs whose embassies or legations were destroyed or damaged, are being furnished temporary offices in the British embassy.

Your correspondent, co-operating with the war office, has just completed a three days' investigation and check of events. The record shows there were 612 separate shocks felt in Tokio from noon Saturday to 6 a. m. Monday.

The Dutch, Spanish and Swiss embassies were destroyed.

The British embassy was only slightly injured.

Three Envoys Dead.

But three casualties are reported in the diplomatic corps. The Italian ambassador is reported killed. The American military attaché and the secretary of the German embassy are reported, without confirmation, to have been killed on a train which was derailed from the rails between Oishi and Ratsuka.

This investigation further showed that 250,000 houses in Tokio were destroyed.

Most of the houses were destroyed by fire which followed the quake, rather than by the quake proper.

The imperial university, containing a library of half a million books of incalculable value, was burned.

The most dramatic installation of a Japanese premier in the country's history took place on the lawn in front of Asakusa Palace while the fire was at its height and the earth was still trembling with recurrent shocks.

New Cabinet Meets.

The first cabinet meeting was held Sunday night. The meeting was in the garden of the premier's residence. There, beneath the sky red with the glow of the great fire, Premier Yamamoto and his advisors discussed measures of relief and rehabilitation.

The ministers had dinner with the premier following the conference. The menu was simple in the extreme. The premier and his guests had plain cooked rice and pickled plums. This is the same food that the refugees throughout the stricken area are eating.

Meantime reports of disaster came in to the government. Thousands of refugees rushed toward the river, crowding the bridges. The weight proved too much for one bridge. It was jammed to capacity and collapsed. Two thousand persons, it was estimated, were on it. They were thrown into the water and a large percentage were believed to have been drowned.

Women and children torn from their families, ran screaming along the streets. Mothers, hysterical and searching for their children, dashed madly through the stunned, half-crazed throngs. Children ran here and there, with flames about them in search of parents.

Fire Comes Quickly.

ENROLLMENT AT POLY NUMBERS 105 TO NOON

Indicating that a record-breaking graduating class will attend the Santa Ana high school this year, a total of 105 seniors had completed the preliminaries of registration for fall term classes up to noon today.

With 50 other pupils in line at that time, 40 junior college students had signed up for attendance at the advanced educational institution.

Seniors whose last names began with letters from L to Z registered this morning. Members of the same class whose last names begin with letters from A to L were to enroll this afternoon. Following the large morning enrollment, D. E. Hammond, principal of the high school, predicted that the school's total registration this year will exceed the 1000 mark despite the fact that extension of courses in other nearby institutions will cut into the local attendance.

Juniors will register here tomorrow. Sophomores will sign up Saturday.

A teachers' general meeting was scheduled today to be held at the high school Saturday afternoon. Announcement at the office of J. A. Cranston, city school superintendent, was to the effect that attendance at the meeting was compulsory. General instructions to teachers as to conduct of school work during the new term was given as the purpose of the meeting.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS CALL FOR THEIR SUPPLIES

The school supply stock room at the office of R. P. Mitchell, county school superintendent, has been the scene of much activity during the past few days. The school districts that joined in the combined order placed several months ago as an experiment, have been calling for their supplies. Everything from cleanser to the foolscap paper which graces the final examinations was included in the biggest single order of school supplies ever purchased by Orange county.

Superintendent Mitchell said purchase of the wholesale order had had a beneficial effect upon retail dealers in Los Angeles and San Francisco who have been dealing with the school districts.

"By purchasing supplies wholesale," he said, "we saved many

COSTA MESAN WITHOUT WORD FROM BROTHER

No word had been received today by H. B. Woodrough, well known Costa Mesa resident, from his brother, F. C. Woodrough, who with his family, was known to be in Japan's zone of peril.

F. C. Woodrough for twelve years has been under the employ of the Japanese government, at Tokyo, as a superintendent of naval construction.

H. W. Goodwin, of the high school faculty here, said today he had received from the Los Angeles office of the company operating the steamship President Lincoln, further confirmation that the steamer had departed from Yokohama prior to the earthquake and fire disaster there. Goodwin is an uncle of Mrs. Herman J. Wylie, who with her family, was known to be on the ship en route to their home at Paoingfu, China, where her husband has been stationed seven years. Dr. Wylie is connected with the Rockefeller foundation and also with the Presbyterian Board of Missions. He is on the staff of the hospital at Paoingfu. The family visited at the home of Prof. Goodwin a month ago. Mrs. Wylie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bushnell, Yorba Linda.

Among many people there still exists a belief that green glass beads worn about the neck will prevent or cure erysipelas.

"We also find that our recently acquired knowledge of school supply prices wholesale has aided us in buying small lots from local dealers. The wholesale order was purchased from an Eastern house, which entered the low bid."

He intimated that in all probability many more school districts would requisition their school supplies through the county superintendent's office next year. The superintendent said he would operate a purchasing department and stockroom without additional expense to the districts, as he has with the order just received.

BRITISH REFUGEES HOLD
QUAKE LOSS OVER-ESTIMATED
LONDON, Sept. 6.—Damage caused by earth shocks and fire in the business and official districts of Tokyo is smaller than at first reported, according to 400 British refugees reaching Kobe, whose stories were cabled here by the British consul.

FIRE IN TOKIO EXTINGUISHED BY RAIN

As Saturday and Sunday passed and the fires continued, the smell of burned human flesh permeated the air. The stench from unheeded bodies, the scene of dead littering the streets, the cries of the wounded, the pleas of the dying, touched the senses with sounds that one who walked through the streets of this city of the dead can never forget.

It is now established that Baron Matsuko, former minister of justice, was killed. Dr. Sonoda, one of the country's leading financiers, also perished. Prince Shimadzu was crushed to death.

Telephone and telegraph communication between Tokyo and Osaka is now partially restored.

A Japanese relief bureau has decided to erect tents for refugees from outlying villages on the grounds of the Imperial Palace.

All military drill grounds will also be used for refugee centers. The bureau has ordered all possible facilities placed at the disposal of foreign refugees.

Many of the foreign survivors are now endeavoring to reach Kobe. It is estimated that one thousand have already reached there and more are due today. A majority of these foreign survivors are destitute and many are injured.

A semblance of order has now been attained, but the population is still stricken with terror and in fear of fresh outbreaks. The city for days has been filled with wild rumors of greater disasters.

PASADENA YOUTH IN QUAKE, SAFE, REPORT.

PASADENA, Sept. 6.—"Hisey, Pasadena, safe, Shiomisaki, Lehmann."

This dispatch, received today by radio, by his father, J. E. Hisey, indicates that young Hisey, who arrived in Yokohama, August 29, aboard the President Lincoln, is safe. This is the first message arriving here from Pasadena. The whereabouts of Miss Belle Bentley is still unknown. The Hisey message was sent by the steel navigator, Shiomisaki. The father does not know yet whether the lad is aboard the ship or safe in Japan.

FEAR VESSEL CAUGHT BY TYPHOON LOST.

SAN PEDRO, Sept. 6.—While it was unloading cargo at Yokohama, the Ishima line steamer Selma City, which sailed from here August 11 with a cargo from Mobile, was struck by the typhoon and driven ashore, according to advices received by company officials here today. It is feared that the boat is a total loss. It had 3400 tons net displacement and carried a crew of fifty men.

Status of Foreign Trade With Japan Now Held In Doubt

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—The effect upon trade relations between Japan and the United States as the result of the earthquake and devastation by fire cannot be ascertained until the entire story is told, all facts are known and the extent of the damage to Yokohama and Tokyo commercial structures established.

This was the opinion expressed here today by foreign trade managers of the Yokohama Specie bank, the official banking connection of the Japanese government, the Sumitomo Bank, a powerful Japanese concern with branches here, Los Angeles and Seattle, and American banks doing business in Japan.

REPORTS CONFLICT ON AMERICAN DEAD

Woods detailed the need of homes for more than 1,000,000 homeless. "Any aid from Americans for over a million homeless Japanese should preferably take the form of tinned meat, condensed milk, flour, underclothes, galvanized sheets, sheets and missioned timber for one-story shelters," this message stated.

The state department later received a message from Consul Davis at Shanghai as follows: "Mary and Nellie Hays safe in Shanghai. Judge Lobinger and other court officials who were in Japan are reported safe."

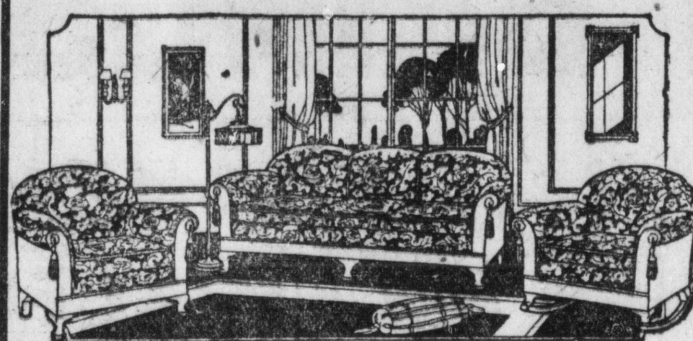

Judge Lobinger is judge of the American court in China. He, members of his family and other court officials were understood to be in one of the mountain resorts near Tokyo.

The Doris Babbitt referred to in Woods' message was assumed to be the daughter of E. G. Babbitt, assistant commercial attaché to the Tokyo embassy, killed in Yokohama.

The reason Woods' message did not include the Babbitt family in mentioning embassy casualties was stated at the department to be that Babbitt, who was appointed to the Tokyo embassy in June, this year, had never reached his post. He was on his way to Tokyo when killed.

to the California Railroad commission for permission to transfer his operative rights and interest in the auto truck line operating between Los Angeles, Artesia, Los Alamitos, Seal Beach, Anaheim Landing, Westminster, Smelter, Wintersburg, Huntington Beach and intermediate points, and H. M. Tolson, has applied to the commission for permission to purchase and operate the same,
it was learned here today.

C. D. Jones of this city, who has been under medical care at a hospital at Anaheim, has returned to his home.

The Michigan Association of Southern California, which has for nearly 25 years been putting on mammoth picnic reunions semi-annually, today issued an official call for the fall reunion to be held all day Saturday, September 15, at Sycamore Grove park, Los Angeles.

Two building permits were issued today for $19,000, making the total for the month 15 permits for $20,425 in new building, and for the year 1110 permits for $3-$04,747 in new building, according to records of W. S. Decker, building inspector.

The last call for the big Kansas picnic was sounded here today.
From every section of Southern California the Jayhawkers will rally for this mammoth reunion, to be held all day Saturday at Sycamore Grove park, Los Angeles. All the popular picnic features will be carried out, it was stated.

The West Anaheim Water company, having become a strictly mutual water concern, has been granted authority by the California Railroad commission to abandon all public utility service, it was learned here today.

The city hall and all city offices will be closed Monday, Admission Day, it was announced today.

The Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce Newport Harbor committee was preparing its report today with relation to the proposed $1,000,000 harbor bond issue. A committee conference and a trip around the bay was scheduled, according to J.
C. Metzgar, secretary of the Chamber.

The life of Julius Bordon, 13,
Register newsboy, was endangered today, according to police report, when he cut a corner on his bicycle at the intersection of Third and Sycamore streets. He collided with an automobile driven by C.
A. Goode, the report said. The boy's bicycle was wrecked. A member of The Register editorial staff took the boy to a physician, who pronounced him uninjured.

Four cases of new fire hose, shipped from Oakland, were received here today by Assistant Fire Chief Kimball of the Santa Ana fire department. Other shipments are on the way, he said. Kimball is acting instead of Fire Chief Luxembourg, who today was reported to be diligently angling for sharks off the Newport pier. His annual vacation comes to end Saturday.

Testimony In Bell Case To Be Saved

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—Believing that Nicholas Gordon, old negro retainer of the late Thomas and Teresa Bell, can preserve the honor of the family and quiet the title to their estate of nearly a million dollars, Attorney Ernest Clewe, acting for Reginald Bell, one of the children, secured from Superior Judge Dunne an order to perpetuate the testimony of the aged servant. A similar order was issued to take the testimony of Miss Viola Smith, 1341 Ellis street, new claimant to heirship in the Teresa Bell estate.

Judge Dunne issued an order for the taking of their testimony before W. W. Keeley. Clewe said that the step was taken in order that there may not later arise any questions to unsettle the estate.

Actions of Buzzard Rouse Citizens' Ire

SARANAP, Sept. 6.—Incensed because of the actions of an unidentified buzzard, which insists on meeting all trains, a delegation of citizens started a drive to remove the volunteer reception committee, on the ground that it was a bad "ad" for the town.

The buzzard appears about train time, circles several times and comes to roost on a fence rail near the railroad track.

Saranap boosters charge that the buzzard has been trained to "do his stuff" by a rival town, jealous of Saranap's growth during the past year.

SCOUTS BATHE ANGRY CLAMS, FRY 'EM!

(By FRANK DOWSETT)

"Fried clams breaded," Roland B. Dye, Orange county boy scout executive, laughed derisively.

The reporter laughed too. It seemed the only thing to do.

The joke was on fourteen Eagle Scouts of the county, who, accompanied by Victor Teaney, assistant Scout executive, returned here last night from a two weeks' trip, via the organization's Reo Speed-wagon to Yosemite.

An Eagle Scout, as everyone knows, is one of those capable young chaps with ten thousand badges on the sleeve of his tunic which indicate that he has passed a similar number of examinations in virtually every subject under the sun. In other words, what he can't do has yet to be thought of.

Yet no good seafood cook would attempt to fry clams. Dye said so. They fry like leather and taste more so, he explained. The correct way on a camping trip is to bake them over hot stones.

The Scouts endeavored the alleged impossible on their last night out. They were at Pismo Beach, the original habitat of the non-fryable clam.

A luscious mess of cracker crumbs and whipped eggs was prepared, in which the indignant clams were submerged. A hot fire and numerous ambitious frying pans did the rest.

"What did they taste like?"
queried Dye of one of the drooping Eagles.

"Like last year's hiking boots," snorted the crestfallen monarch.

But it was a wonderful trip all agreed, despite the dying protests of the abused clams of Pismo.

B. F. Ford, Santa Ana contractor, owes $1128.75 to some one.
He wants the superior court here to tell him whom.

Ford today filed a suit against the Orange County Rock and Gravel company and E. Schelling, the two claimants of his money.

In this action he asks the superior court for permission to post the money with the court clerk, and that the defendants be ordered into court to present their claims, so that the court may decide who is entitled to the money.

Ford says he knows nothing of the merits of the dispute, over his money. He knows it belongs to one or the other of the defendants, but which one he cannot say, he averred. So he wants to wash his hands of the matter by letting the court decide, it was set forth.

According to his suit, he entered into a sub-contract last April with the gravel company to excavate a section of ditch for the Santa Ana outfall sewer. The gravel company, he states, subsequently turned over a portion of the job to Schelling, who was said to have excavated 3225 feet of ditch. The $1128.75 represents payment for that work. Both of the sub-contractors, Ford says, claim payment.

Attorney L. A. West represents
Ford in the action.

Fight On Parentage Of Boy Is Reopened

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—
Parentage of "Charles Henderson," 2 1/2-year-old son of Emily Reed, concert singer, again is to be fought out in court, Superior Judge Griffin granting the motion of Miss Reed's attorneys for a new trial.

At the former trial the jury decided against the mother in her effort to have Charles Henderson Jr., wealthy realtor and Union League Club member, declared father of her son.

The new trial was granted on the ground that Judge Griffin's charge to the jury that parentage must be established beyond a reasonable doubt was not a proper statement of the law. The new trial was granted also on the ground that testimony was improperly admitted at the former trial as to Miss Reed's relations with Sim Mack, 65-year-old member of the San Francisco Stock exchange.
Miss Reed, in her suit, charged Henderson with drugging her.

Birmingham Leads World In Jewelry

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Birmingham, England, according to a report to the commerce department from Consul John F. Jewell, is said to be the largest jewelry manufacturing center in the world.
In 1919, which was considered a fairly prosperous year, there were 50,000 people employed in over 1000 firms in the industry. Many of these firms, however, are small, employing but a few artisans, among whom the proprietor himself usually works. During the nineteenth century jewelers' work was largely a handicraft trade.

PUBLISHERS OF H. B. HELD FOR CHECK TRIAL

Fenton Chaplin and R. G. Graves, lately publishers of a Huntington Beach newspaper, now defunct, were at liberty today under $500 bail each, pending arraignment in the superior court here on a charge of issuing a worthless check. Justice J. B. Cox ordered them held to answer at a preliminary hearing today.

The charge brought against Chaplin and Graves specifically accused them of issuing a $25 check to C. E. Westhaven, Huntington Beach clothing merchant. This check, and others, the authorities said, were floated as the newspaper venture collapsed and the prop-

Deputy District Attorney D. G.
Wettlin introduced testimony at the hearing regarding the $25 check and other evidence to show that Chaplin and Graves had but $1.15 in the bank when they wrote the check.

Chaplin did not testify in defense, but Graves took the stand and stated that on the morning of the day that the check had been issued, he collected $90 for the firm and turned the money over to Chaplin to deposit in the bank.

Chaplin and Graves were well groomed and apparently unworried, although serious, at today's hearing. Graves, who was taken into custody in Los Angeles, has been at liberty on his own recognizance since his arrest. Chaplin was arrested at Waycross, Ga., and brought here for trial. He has been held in the county jail in default of bail. At today's hearing he was represented by Attorney W. F.
Menton.

Don't Confuse "High-Price" with "High-Quality"

If automobile oils were priced solely on quality and efficiency, no oil should cost you more than good, high quality Zerolene. But quality and efficiency do not determine the price of oils sold here. The difference in the price of Zerolene and other oils usually goes into long haul transportation and high merchandising costs, which we do not have to pay to make Zerolene available. All that you spend for Zerolene goes to buy high quality only.

Therefore we say, "Trust on Zerolene—even if it does cost less." Ask for it by name—Zerolene.

Nuxated Iron will Increase Strength of Delicate People In Two Weeks Time

In many instances says City Physician persons have suffered for years without knowing what made them feel tired, listless and rundown when their real trouble was lack of iron in the blood—how to tell.

If you were to make an actual blood test on all people who are ill you would probably be greatly astonished at the exceedingly large number who lack iron and who are ill for no other reason than the lack of iron. The moment iron is supplied a multitude of dangerous symptoms disappear. Without iron the blood at once loses the power to change food into living tissue and therefore nothing you eat does you good; you don't get the strength out of it. Your food merely passes through your system like corn through a mill with the rollers so wide apart that the mill can't grind. As a result of this continuous blood and nerve starvation, people become generally weakened, nervous and all run down and frequently develop all sorts of conditions. One is too thin; another is burdened with unhealthy fat; some are so weak they can hardly walk; some think they have dyspepsia, kidney or liver trouble, some can't sleep at night, others are sleepy and tired all day; some fussy and irritable; some skinny and bloodless, but all lack physical power and endurance in such cases, it is worse than foolishness to take stimulating medicines or narcotic drugs, which only whip up your flagging vital powers for the moment, maybe at the expense of your life later on. No matter what any one tells you, if you are not strong and well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see for yourself how much you have gained. You can talk as you please about all the wonders wrought by new remedies, but when you come down to hard facts there is nothing like good old iron to put color in your cheeks and good sound, healthy flesh on your bones. It is also a great nerve and stomach strengthener and one of the best blood builders in the world. The only trouble was that the old forms of inorganic iron like tincture of iron, iron acetate, etc., often ruined people's teeth, upset their stomachs and were not assimilated and for these reasons they frequently did more harm than good. But with the discovery of the newer forms of organic iron all this has been overcome. Nuxated Iron, for example, is pleasant to take, does not injure the teeth and is almost immediately beneficial.

Manufacturers' Note: Nuxated Iron which is recommended above is not a secret remedy but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products it is easily assimilated, and does not injure teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed in this city by all good druggists.—adv.

What's New In Autumn Styles? Demands Milady With An Eye to Wardrobe Needs For the Season

What's new to wear? Home-coming vacationers with trunks filled with frocks slightly worn-for-wear after a strenuous season at summer resorts, only wait to settle down into the old accustomed routine of home and social life, are asking that question so near the heart of all femininity—What's new to wear?

And in the autumn of this year of grace, 1923, the question is easily answered. Everything about these three styles sketched, for instance.

The first is smartly tailored with a skirt that is three-tiered in front and quite plain in back. Notice

Ladies' Guild

The Ladies' Guild of the Church of the Messiah held its initial meeting after the summer vacation on Wednesday with the president, Mrs. C. S. Dunphy, in the chair.

Much interest was manifested in the usual fall activities. Plans and work for the late autumn bazaar were discussed and arranged for. Numerous orders for making dresses, aprons and other garments, also comforts, were received. A cooked food sale will be held on September 15.

After the business session a comfort was tied and a social time enjoyed. Light refreshments were served by the president.

Quiet Wedding Crowns Pleasant Visit

Of interest to the many friends made here by Mrs. Velma C. Waggoner of San Diego who has been a frequent guest in the George W. Ford home on North Ross street, will be the news of her wedding yesterday to Alofton R. Miller of Long Beach.

Mrs. Waggoner arrived at the Ford home a week or more ago and completed her plans for the very simple ceremony which was attended by Mrs. Ford as sole witness and was performed by Judge John B. Cox.

The happy couple left at once for Long Beach where Mr. Miller is engaged upon construction work of the big oil refineries and where they will make their home.

Legion Auxiliary

With a class of twenty candidates to be initiated, members of the American Legion auxiliary anticipate an unusually interesting session tonight at Legion hall in the armory.

To add to the attraction will be reports of the convention at Eureka to be given by the returned delegates, Mrs. Gertrude Whitney, (president), Miss Nora Lykko and Mrs. Theo. Willaston and a program to be given by the Chandler trio.

Plans will be discussed for the losers' supper to the American Legion (following the recent membership race) and also for another of the famous auxiliary picnics.

W. C. T. U.

Tuesday, September 11 will be the date of the regular monthly session of the W. C. T. U. which will be held at Birch park at 2:30 p. m.

Former S. A. Woman

Is Dead at Redlands

Mrs. Ralph Huntington, her husband an income tax expert of this city and Redlands, died this morning at the family home, 1017 Washington street, Redlands, according to a telegram received here today. They left Santa Ana two years ago.

Mrs. Huntington, who was 27 years old, had been ill for several months. Beside the widower, she is survived by a daughter, Betty Jane, 7, her mother, Mrs. Minnie Bruce; a sister, Mildred Bruce, and a brother, Russell Bruce, all of Los Angeles, and brother, Ralph Bruce, of Chicago.

Funeral services will be held Saturday, at 10 a. m., at the family residence. Interment will be in the Hollywood cemetery, where brief services will be held at about 2 p. m.

MAN TAKEN IN PARK IS HELD FOR PROBE

Said to have an extended criminal record, Oscar Pendleton, alias Robert Burton and Walter Burton, was registered on the police blotter here today by Police Officer Sid Smithwick for investigation.

Pendleton was arrested on complaint of M. J. Tyler, Birch park custodian, who said that the man's actions roused his suspicions.

Pendleton, according to the police, confessed to a lengthy record of burglaries and arson crimes for which he served sentences in both American and British prisons. His asserted criminal record included four terms in prison at Providence, R. I., for burglary; 17 months in the State Reform school for vagrancy; and terms of seven and three years in English prisons for arson.

He gave his age as 41 years. He arrived in Orange county today, according to police information.

ESCONDIDO IS READY FOR BIG GRAPE DAY

ESCONDIDO, Sept. 6.—All preparations for Grape day are completed and all that remains for Escondido to do is to put on a few last minute touches, take the grapes from refrigeration, and then slip on her own pretty carnival frock in which she plans to receive thousands of visitors on Saturday, September 8. The Grape day board has been generous in its appropriation to the different committees in charge, with a result that the program is more varied and the individual features better prepared than ever before. The parade of floats is a good example of this. Agnes Ayres, famous motion picture star, will act as queen, gowned in a beautiful costume which expresses the spirit of the vineyard and field.

All the amusements are free, for Escondido does not attempt to make Grape Day a money-making affair, but rather considers herself the hostess of her neighboring towns. The detailed program follows:

10:00 a. m.—Coronation of queen (Agnes Ayres) by Major General J. H. Pendleton, commandant of the San Diego marine base.

10:30 a. m.—Parades of floats, decorated cars and features on Grand avenue and Lime street.

12:00 m.—Free distribution of grapes, at Grape Day park. Concert, Escondido band.

2:00 p. m.—Marine band concert.

3:00 p. m.—Musical program and feature numbers.

4:00 p. m.—Athletic sports.

7:00 p. m.—Carnival and street dance, on Grand avenue.

Santa Ana Bank In Court Action Here Seeking Judgments

Two actions by the First National bank of Santa Ana, to collect money claimed to be due on promissory notes were n file today in the superior court here through Attorneys Head, Rutan and Scovel.

One suit was brought against the Central Milling company of Olive, John M. Gardiner and J. W. A. Off, the sum of $2500 being involved, together with interest and attorneys' fees amounting to $500.

In the other action, filed against Ray L. Sargent and Frank Buehler, as makers of a note for $1400, and the Co-operative Shops, said to have endorsed the note, the bank sued for that amount and $250 attorneys fees.

Would-Be Suicide Is Improved; Plan Charges

Reports that Elijah Frank Kiser rapidly is recovering at the county hospital here from self-inflicted wounds, received after he failed in an asserted attempt to shoot his estranged wife, Myrtle Kiser of Santa Ana, elicited the statement from the district attorney's office today that a criminal charge would be filed against Kiser.

The alleged attempt at a double slaying took place last week at the home of Mrs. Kiser. With his throat cut, Kiser was taken to the hospital apparently in a critical condition.

He will be charged with assault with intent to commit murder, it was stated today. Just when the charge will be filed, the district attorney's office was unable to say.

Costa Mesa Bride Weds Man of Choice at Church Ceremony

On last Saturday, September 1, at the Costa Mesa Methodist Episcopal church, occurred one of the most beautiful formal weddings of the season when Miss Alice M. King became the bride of Raymond K. Eastman with scores of their friends gathered to witness the impressive ceremony.

Loving hands had decked the church with garlands of flowers and vines and the altar was marked by a bridal arch fashioned of ferns intertwined with blossoms.

Promptly at 8 o'clock, the strains of the Wedding March from Lohengrin, played by Mrs. E. L. Bennet, announced the approach of the bridegroom. Taking his place at the altar, the officiating minister, the Rev. G. S. Brown accompanied by the bridegroom, awaited the coming of the bride.

Two dainty flower maidens, the Misses Veda Snow in orchid or gandy and Jean King in pink or gandy, scattered roses from enameled pink and orchid baskets in the pathway of the bride who, attended by her maids, the Misses Evelyn Bauman and Nellie Kinley, entered upon the arm of her father, J. R. King.

The wedding ring was borne upon a silver tray proudly carried by little Miss Ruth King, lovely in frilly white or gandy.

Messrs Carl May and John Seigle were chosen by Mr. Eastman from among his friends, to act as ushers and completed the quartette of special attendants in addition to the charming youngsters in the nuptial scene.

Miss King's slender brunette charm was intensified by her gown of white Canton crepe, lace draped and her flowing tulle veil crowned with a wreath of orange blossoms. Her flowers were bride's roses showered with lilies of the valley.

Miss Evelyn Bauman was costumed in pink silk while Miss Veda Snow wore orchid or gandy. Each bride's maid's arms were filled with Cecil Brunner roses.

After the solemn services and the congratulations showered on the happy pair with a dash of rice for luck, the bride and groom, accompanied by their bridesmaids and attendants, returned to the King home for a wedding supper.

Sunday and Monday a delightful trip to Santa Catalina was enjoyed by the new Mr. and Mrs. Eastman together with their respective parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. King and Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Eastman and the bride's youngest brother, Roy King.

Returning, Mr. and Mrs. Eastman Jr. will be at home to their many warm friends at a charming apartment on Newport Boulevard near Harper street, Costa Mesa.

Miss King was for an extended period, the Costa Mesa correspondent for The Register and also endeavored herself to hosts of Santa Anans by her friendly courtesy while employed at the Spicer dry goods store.

Return to Santa Ana After Eastern Trip

Attorney S. M. Davis and his daughter, Miss Laura Davis, returned yesterday from an extended vacation trip in the east. Considerable time was spent with relatives in Pennsylvania, and also visiting in New York City, Washington, D. C., Pittsburgh, Chicago, and Minneapolis, returning by way of Canadian Pacific to Vancouver, and stopping at Seattle, Mrs. Davis remains in Minneapolis visiting relatives and will return later.

Tonight at Orange county park, the Royal Neighbors with their friends will congregate for a big weiner bake to which each one attending will contribute weiners and rolls for their own personal needs. Coffee will be served by a committee.

Everyone planning to go is asked to meet at Woodman hall at 6 o'clock and those having extra room in their automobiles will be expected to take added passengers.

Nursery Committee Asks Aid From Child Lovers

Have you the welfare and happiness of children at heart?

Then if you have leisure time, perhaps you will volunteer to give some of that time and interest to the Parent-Teacher association which is back of the nursery and booth to be such a valuable part of the Orange county fair, September 25 to 29.

"We are having assurance of help from many friends," today declared Mrs. Nell Beisel, "but we must be assured of having an average of seven women a day to aid us. Some of these will be needed in the nursery itself while others will be of service in the booth where wholesome food such as milk, simple sandwiches, and ice cream cones may be purchased. Anyone who can give us time from two hours to a full half day, may be sure of the gratitude and appreciation of the committee."

Mrs. Beisel has working on the committee with her, Mrs. W. C. Mayes, Mrs. Marshall Harolds, Mrs. Joseph Vau and Mrs. Horton Palmer. Anyone wishing to offer services may telephone any member. The nursery is designed to be an aid to tired mothers and their equally tired little people during the progress of the fair. Children may safely be left there with competent attendants and parents left free to see the exhibits, secure in the knowledge that their babies are safe and watched over.

Pottawotomie Folk Have Joyous Day

Despite the fact that it took place last Saturday, the Pottawotomie county picnic held at Orange county park, still remains the event of the summer with all former Kansans who were so fortunate as to be present.

"We just visited all day," declared one enthusiastic picnicer who declared that so many old friends reunited after a number of years couldn't find time enough to say all they had to talk about.

There were a number of visitors who, while not from Pottawotomie county, yet were welcome additions to the group and were from Kansas. These included Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Cook of Topeka, Mrs. Nellie McIntire of Kansas City, Kans., and Mrs. Carrie Roberts now of Wendell, Idaho.

Attention was lavished upon a royal queen of the gathering, Mrs. J. M. Mack who was crowned by virtue of her ninety-three years. Mrs. Mack went from Santa Ana where she makes her home with the family of her daughter, Mrs. Frederick Hald of South Rest street.

Miss Virginia Bigelow, attractive sub-deb daughter of the Schuyler Bigelows, was "first lady in waiting" as she was the youngest person present to have been born in Pottawotomie county.

It was estimated that nearly seventy merry-makers gathered for the event.

Silver Cords

At the close of the usual business session of Silver Cord Masonic lodge Tuesday night, the members were asked to adjourn to the banquet room at S. J. Mustel, chairman of the entertainment committee had a surprise for them.

The surprise proved to be a delightful one indeed and was a musical followed by appetizing refreshments served under the capable direction of Charles McCausland.

The Misses Georgia Belle and Marjorie Walton in violin and piano numbers drew forth most complimentary applause as did Mrs. Beatrice Le Blanc in violin numbers. The two young girls have delighted other audiences here in the city where their talent is well recognized. Mrs. Le Blanc is a newcomer whose ability as a violinist promises to be an open sesame to the city's musical circles. She plans to open a conservatory here in the near future.

Variety was given by the beautiful vocal solos by Miss Edith Cornell with Harry Garstang at the piano. Miss Cornell's voice and personality were, as is ever the case, extremely popular with the Silver Cords who congratulated Mr. Mustel upon the program arranged.

The following resolution was passed at yesterday's meeting: "The Women's Missionary society of the United Presbyterian church of Santa Ana wishes to pay another tribute of love and esteem to the memory of Mrs. Steele Finley, who passed to her rest Sabbath morning, July 15, 1923.

Mrs. Finley was loved by all who knew her. Her kindly Christian character left its imprint on all who were associated with her in any way. Her wish was to live, but she said, "Thy will be done." The memory of Mrs. Finley will always be sacred to us. The one comfort which we wish to extend to her husband and family is, "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord."

FIRST METHODIST.
The Women's Home Missionary society of the First Methodist church met Wednesday, September 5, in the church parlors, with Mrs. John Clarkson, vice president, in the chair.

Devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. Fannie Lash, who, in an interesting manner, spoke of the courage of many Bible characters.

The following delegates were appointed to attend the W. H. M. S. branch meeting to be held in Asbury Park, N. E. church, Los Angeles, September 12-14: Mrs. Clarkson, Mrs. Snow, Mrs. Betts, Mrs. Crist, Mrs. Matthews, Mrs. McGarragh.

Mrs. Matthews, the secretary, read the names of the superintendents of the various departments who had been appointed by the executive board.

Mrs. Foster in a very pleasing manner sang "We Can, by God's Grace, If We Will." Mrs. Clarkson gave an interesting synopsis of the first chapter of the new study book, "The Child and America's Future," which showed that America's greatest asset is the child and how important it is that the youth of America be trained to understand and appreciate the higher ideals of life.

Garden Setting Offers Charm at Wedding of Late Afternoon

Adorned with masses of purple and white asters, the Charles E. Utt home in Tustin offered a beautiful setting for a late afternoon wedding yesterday when Mrs. Utt's daughter, Miss Ruth Rawlings, became the bride of Fred A. Cox of Calexico.

Long shadows fell across the gardens where the ceremony was held in the dappled light and shade, Miss Rawlings with her sister, Miss Marjorie Rawlings, paced to the improvised altar to the strains of Lohengrin, played by Mrs. Lynn Hess.

Heavy white Canton crepe fashioned the wedding gown while the frock worn by Miss Marjorie Rawlings was of soft grey chiffon.

The ceremony, read by the Rev. W. S. McDougall, was preceded by two songs delightfully rendered by Mrs. Vera Smith.

Following the congratulations showered upon the happy young people by over thirty assembled relatives and friends, a dainty refreshment course of fruit salad with olives, grape punch, wedding cake and ice cream followed.

Cups and hearts, was served by Mrs. Thomas Robertson, Mrs. Lynn Hess and Mrs. Virgil Deaver.

Mr. Cox is hydrographer of the city of Calexico and after a honeymoon spent in San Diego, he and his bride will make their home in this city.

Missionary Society

UNITED PRESBYTERIAN.
The Women's Missionary society of the United Presbyterian church held the regular meeting Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 in the church parlors, with the president, Mrs. William Smart, in the chair.

Large baskets of beautiful dahlias and zinnias adorned the parlor. Miss Myra Gibson led the devotional service. Mrs. J. T. Raitt reported the executive meeting held at Long Beach September 3, and the important questions discussed.

The subject for the afternoon was "The Freedman and the American Indian." The leader was Mrs. S. H. Finley, who spoke on Egypt, using a large map of Africa to illustrate her talk.

Departing School-girl Honored By Friends At Pretty Shower

Like a cluster of posies themselves, in their dainty organdy frocks, were the young girls who yesterday fitted through the flower-decked home of Mrs. W. M. McClary, 1111 West Fifth street, and revelled through out happy afternoon in honor of Miss Virginia Lowell leaving soon to attend Castilleja School at Palo Alto.

Mrs. McClary, having no daughter of her own, delights in borrowing from her friends and many are the happy affairs she plans for the young people. Yesterday's was no exception and the lasses played games and enjoyed a graphophone concert until the refreshment hour when Mrs. McClary added by a dainty little "serving maid" in the person of Miss Charline Lowell, younger sister of the honoree, served sandwiches, cake, ice cream and orangeade.

The supreme event of the afternoon however, was when Miss Virginia was blind-folded and seated on the floor with a box placed in front of her. Exploration of its contents revealed one beautiful handkerchief after another, which she will enjoy during her school year away from her friends.

Mrs. Joseph Lowell was also present to enjoy the affair and assist Mrs. McClary in entertaining the young people who included the Misses Virginia Lowell, honoree, Biddy Witman, Lorene Porter, Veda Mitchell, Lois Winslow, Ninette Rowland and little Miss Charline Lowell.

"Twin" Grandsons Are Cousins

Many congratulations were heaped upon Mr. and Mrs. James S. Cawthon of this city when their children learned that fate smiled twice upon them Labor day and sent two splendid ten-pound grandsons to them.

The bonny babies in question were born Monday, September 3, 1923, one to Mr. and Mrs. Chester Hemstreet and the other to Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Edwards, both of Westminister.

Mrs. Hemstreet was formerly Miss Joyce Cawthon and Mrs. Edwards was Miss Lorraine Cawthon. The babies are the first grand-children in the family.

Complete Their Visit With Home Folk

Mr. and Mrs. Leon A. Holt and little son Albert of Huntington Park came Saturday, to spend the week-end at the home of Mr. Holt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Holt of 1505 Bush street.

The visit was the occasion for a happy family reunion in honor of the birthday anniversary of Mr. Holt Sr., on September 1.

While in the city they enjoyed meeting many friends and old acquaintances, and returned to their home at Huntington Park Monday evening.

Enjoy Outing At Camp Baldy

Miss Theodora Beecher, Miss Artie Cleveland and Miss Jane White were weekend visitors at Camp Baldy, guests of Miss Ethel Bradley.

Miss Bradley has spent the summer resting in the mountains but plans to return to Santa Ana and Los Angeles about September 12.

At the recent session of Daughters of Veterans, the date of September 21 was named for their tea which is expected to be one of the pleasantest events of the month.

All plans will be made and carried out by a committee composed of Mesdames Laura Boyd, Kate Parkall, Caroline Adams, Elizabeth Adams, Beren Baker, Oma Hall, Emma Lamb, Lois Morrison, Louise Plummer, Lydia Marsh and Miss Gladys Vanhise.

The Tent accepted an invitation to take part in the Armistice day parade to be staged at Orange and will present the float "Emancipation." Mrs. Harriet Leipsic, Mrs. Lois Lentz and Mrs. Helen Leeper will direct the planning and decorating of the float.

petizing luncheon at tables made attractive with asters and roses and where covers were placed for seventy. To add to the pleasure of the social hour, was a KEJ radio concert arranged through the courtesy of the J. C. Horton Furniture company.

At 1:30 p. m. the business session was called to order and a review of last year's work given after which the annual election was held.

Mrs. Otto S. Russell, was of course named as honorary president of the society while Mrs. Bertha Harrison was elected to the position of president. Other officers named were Miss Grace Roberts, first vice-president; Mrs. F. L. Purington, Mrs. Bessie Meyer, Mrs. L. I. Baker and Mrs. Edna Ingham, second, third, fourth and fifth vice-presidents respectively; Mrs. Minnie Harris, recording secretary; Miss Gertrude Minor, treasurer; Mrs. Harry Brackett, corresponding secretary; Mrs. A. A. Catland, historian; Miss Lula Minter, librarian.

Mrs. Baker favored with a pleasing solo and Mrs. Carrie Leebrock, deputy county aid commissioner, spoke on "The Need of Constructive Work Among Young Girls."

Pine Cone Troup Of Girl Scouts Is Home From Bear Canyon

The Misses Eleanor Rairdon, Charlotte Pritchard, Virginia Bailey, Grace Pritchard and Gail Baldwin comprise a group of eager young Girl Scouts organized last February under the direction of Miss Edith Gillette and called the Pine Cone Troup.

Among their activities during the vacation season was the camping trip at Bear canyon where the Girl Scouts camp is located and where they were chaperoned by Miss Gillette and Mrs. Earl Gillette. The outing was brought to a close with the return of the young people after Labor day which was the crowning point of the camping experience.

For it was on Labor day that the parents of the active young people motored to camp to spend the day and witness the varied lines of endeavor which the girls pursue.

Hiking, swimming, fishing and other recreations were varied by practice tests which are made fully as rigorous as those exacted from Boy Scouts. Pine Cone Troup plans many similar happy events in the future.

Aid Society

Pleasantly combining a business and social session, members of the Aid society of Richland Avenue church were yesterday, the guests of Mrs. E. G. Warner at the Warner cottage, Newport, for the entire day.

Morning hours offered opportunity for a refreshing swim and at noon a delectable luncheon was served by Mrs. Warner. In the afternoon hours the business session proved highly interesting as Mrs. W. O. Conklin, president, called for the annual election of officers.

Those elected were Mrs. Robert Horn, president; Mrs. J. Russell Bruff, vice president; Mrs. B. E. Skiles, secretary; Mrs. Roy Roepke, treasurer; Mrs. W. O. Conklin, press correspondent.

Enjoying the pleasant hospitality of Mrs. Warner were the Mesdames W. B. Ranney, D. J. Stull, Paul H. Gilbert, Henry Evans, J. Russell Bruff, Roy Roepke, F. M. McKimley, Robert Horn, H. G. Burgess, F. L. Clark, W. O. Conklin, Mark Walder, Miss Belle Wright, Miss Alice Gilbert, and a group of invited guests including Mrs. Nina Staples, Mrs. Robert Conklin, Mrs. William C. Bruff, Miss Mildred Ranney, Miss Marian Stull and Miss Helen Evans.

WALNUT PICKERS TO GET 75 CENTS FOR EACH SACK

Fixing a rate of 75 cents per sack for walnut pickers in the Santa Ana district, declaring that indications point to a bumper crop, and assuring Orange county growers that partial payment of 3 3/4 cents will be made on last year's cull crop within the immediate future, directors of the Santa Ana Walnut Growers' association, Harry W. Lewis president, today announced that the local packing plant will be open to receive this year's crop as soon as the product is dry enough to handle.

"The directors decided," President Lewis said, "to open the packing plant as soon as there seems to be a concerted demand for activity at the big East Fourth street establishment. This does not mean that the plant will be operated at capacity, of course, but that, inasmuch as the nuts are now being gathered, many growers will soon require the assistance of the plant."

Plant Now Open

"It was arranged, at yesterday's meeting of the board of directors, that House Manager J. E. Gowen will be at the packing plant in person from this date forward and all those who have walnuts will find him ready to co-operate with them. It is necessary to stipulate, however, that growers bring eighteen or more sacks to the plant in order that we may have what we call a 'platform' of nuts. All we ask is that the nuts be dry and come to us in the requisite consignments."

To Fix Price Later

At the same time, President Lewis said the 1923 price probably will be fixed at a meeting of the central board of the California Walnut Growers association in Los Angeles at a meeting to be held in that city at 9:30 a. m., October 4.

"Carlyle Thorpe, general manager, now in the east, will be on the car. It is more than likely the price will be fixed and other important details worked out."

Concerning the cracking plant, Lewis said it was probable this important branch of the local plant will open about mid-October. This will add several hundred workers to the plant, Lewis said the nuts now falling are exceptionally fine. Thorpe has estimated Orange county's crop at 3786 tons, or approximately 500 tons more than last year.

CAR STOLEN BY 'GHOST' THIEF IS WRECKED

Badly wrecked and with virtually every moveable part missing, the automobile stolen Saturday night from the garage floor of the Appleby Motor company agency here was today again in the garage, following its recovery yesterday on the state highway to San Diego a short distance south of San Onofre.

Officers today continued their hunt for the "phantom" thief who entered the garage between 11 o'clock and midnight Saturday night and boldly drove a machine from the floor. The thief did not drive out of the garage, however, until after he had taken a spare tire from an automobile owned by Vernon Barnhill, city motorcycle officer, who had left the car there for repair.

Damage $400

According to B. E. Morthland, sales manager for the Appleby Motor company, the company will be at an expense of at least $400 in repairing the machine and replacing parts that were stolen while the wrecked car lay along the state highway from 1 o'clock Sunday morning until Tuesday morning.

Barnhill yesterday visited the point where the machine was wrecked. He said marks about the ground indicated the car had turned over completely once and again half way. It was resting on its side, with the top wrecked, two wheels broken, and other parts broken or twisted.

Determines Wreck Hour

Barnhill secured information that determined the hour of the wreck about 1 o'clock Sunday morning, or approximately two hours after the thief drove the machine out of the garage. The speedometer indicated the auto had been driven sixty-seven miles.

Thieves had removed the extra tire stolen from Barnhill, the battery, radiator and gasoline tank, caps and other parts that could be quickly removed. Barnhill was of the opinion the missing parts oil of that city in refusing the use of the municipal auditorium, September 20, as a speaking place for Eugene V. Debs, Socialist leader. It was declared today at the beach city that the Rotary club, the Boy Scout executive council and the American Legion of Huntington Beach would be asked to pass similar resolutions in an effort to bring about a strong front in resisting the effort being made by labor men and others to have Debs speak there.

President S. C. Minor and secretary W. J. Cameron of the Oil Workers' union at Huntington Beach joined in the statement that the matter of issuing a formal invitation to Debs to deliver an address in Huntington Beach would be taken up at the meeting of the Labor council Friday night. Minor headed the group of labor men who appeared before the council and asked for the permit to use the auditorium for the Debs speech.

Verbal Tilt Lively

The resolution adopted by the Lions club was passed by an unanimous rising vote. It was introduced by L. W. Blodgett, city attorney of Huntington Beach and commander of Joseph Rodman post of the American Legion there.

In connection with the effort being made to keep Debs from speaking in Huntington Beach, a verbal controversy of a considerable proportion took place Wednesday afternoon on one of the downtown Huntington Beach streets. Richard Drew, president of the board of trustees of the city, and Adolph Germer, labor speaker were the participants. A reporter in the vicinity heard their shouts some distance away.

"I will stop Debs from speaking in this city or any other Orange county city if I possibly can," declared Drew.

Germer replied: "Very well then, we will see whether the mayor and the city attorney of one small town are bigger than the constitution of the United States." Drew: "Do you know that my conscience tells me that a man of Debs type should not be allowed to speak here?"

"Do you know that the constitution of the United States guarantees the right of free speech, free assembly and free religious opinion?"

Major E. J. Marks, commander of the Orange county council of the American Legion, has declared that if an effort is made to have Debs speak in any other Orange county he expected to call a meeting of the council and expect a resolution urging upon the city government the refusal of a permit for him to speak.

In the Lions club resolution the action of the council was commended and the members were praised for "their steadfast loyalty to the principals of Americanism."

"We further pledge our undivided support to them in their stand

WIFE, 14, AIDS ACCUSED; JURY DISAGREES

With the jury at his first trial here unable to agree on a verdict, Jose Hoyuela, charged with swearing falsely to the age of Helen Louise Mattox, 14, whom he married recently in this city, today was awaiting the selection of a date for his second trial.

This is scheduled to be fixed tomorrow by Superior Judge R. Y. Williams, who discharged the Hoyuela jury at 8:30 p. m. last night when the jury, deliberating since 4 p. m. found itself hopelessly divided.

The young wife of Hoyuela was regarded as a powerful factor in his defense. After she had been barred as a witness for the prosecution, under the rule that a wife may not testify against her husband, the girl was summoned later for the defense.

On cross-examination by Chief Deputy District Attorney C. N. Mozley, she testified that she had given her age as 15 when the marriage license was secured, and denied that she and Hoyuela had discussed the matter of misrepresenting her age in order to procure the license. This testimony was regarded as tending to disprove the theory that Hoyuela knowingly perjured himself in making affidavit regarding her age.

against sovietism, communism, radicalism and anarchism," it was declared. "We feel there are quite a few radicals, I. W. House and Graham, contractors, today started the work of razing the old Princess theater building on North Main street, on the site of which is to be reared a new and modern theater building for C. E. Walker, proprietor of the theater.

Operations of the Princess theater this afternoon were transferred to the Lyric theater, on West Fourth, even to the name—for the Lyric will hereafter be known as the Princess theater.

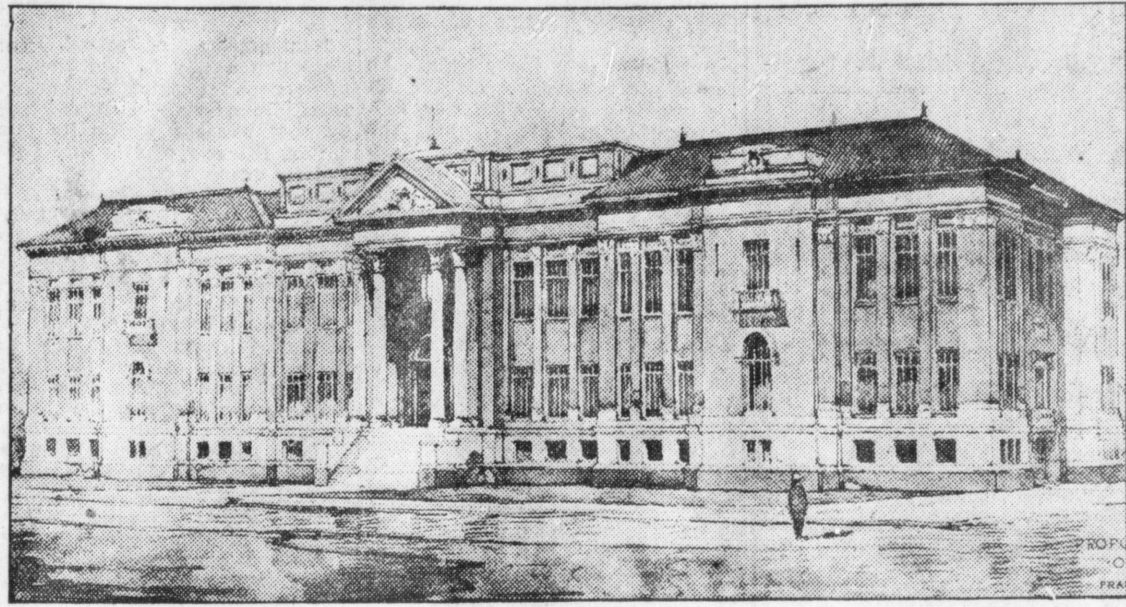

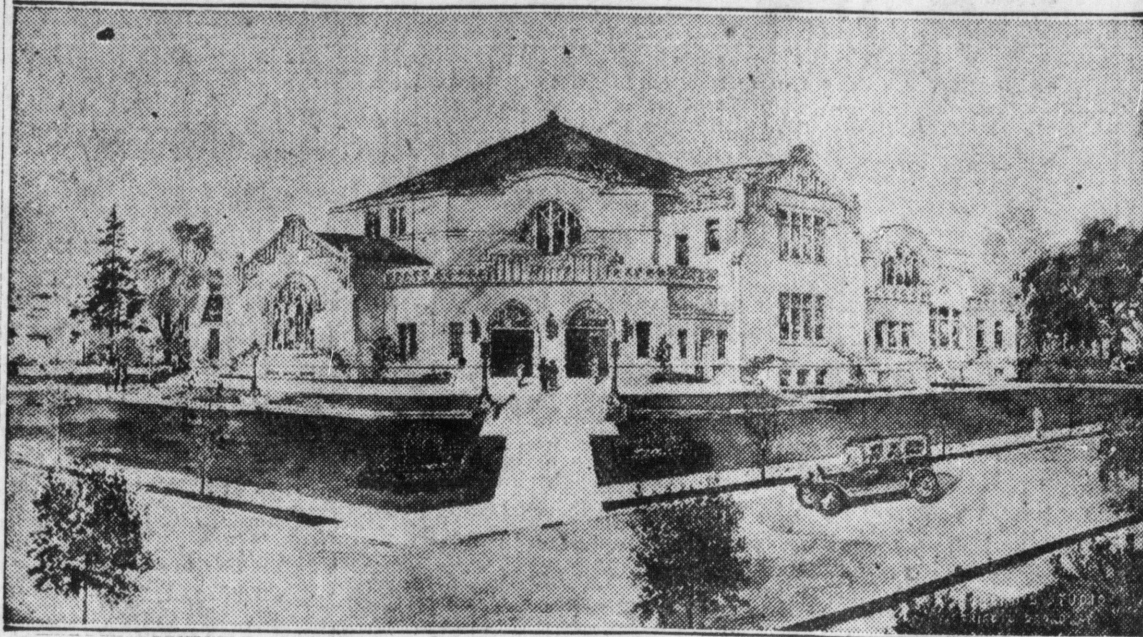

Walker said that the same program would be given at the new location, and that the same business policy that has characterized the Princess will be maintained at the Lyric's old location.

The new structure on Main street will be the height of three stories and has been particularly designed for theater purposes. It will cost approximately $85,000, with equipment and furnishings increasing the total cost to approximately $115,000, according to Walker.

With destruction of the Princess theater building will pass one of the first structures in Santa Ana devoted to moving pictures. Moving pictures in Santa Ana virtual-Cashier and vice president of the First National bank at Hastings for sixteen years, Taylor for the past five years has devoted himself to the management of a million dollar estate belonging to President Clark of the financial institution.

"We are locating here for the winter, perhaps permanently," said Taylor today. "We have been particularly impressed by the high standing of the schools of the

MARTINEZ, Sept. 6.—When the Martinez high school reopens for the fall semester a record-breaking enrollment is expected, according to Principal M. H. Rowell. More than 200 students are expected to register for classes. The new high school building is well equipped to handle the large enrollment.

KANSAN WRITES ABOUT GOLDEN STATE

Writing to the Kansas City Star from Riverside Park, Cal., a writer signing himself "A. S.," jolts California with several knocks about the climate and the people of this great state.

A clipping of the article has just been received from her daughter at Kansas City by Mrs. Cora B. Simpson, who is here visiting her sister, Mrs. F. H. Haid, 919 South Ross, and her aunt, Mrs. W. A. Blakely 634 West First street.

Expressing the belief that the Star should be interested in protecting the farmers and farmer lands of Kansas against the wiles of California, the writer says: "I am as far out on the Pacific coast as I can get, and I grit my teeth when I read of the big typed circulars that this coast is sending broadcast to our middle-eastern and extreme eastern farmers or merchants, exploiting this country as the 'paradise of the United States.' Fruits and vegetables are raised with so little labor it is more fun; the sun shines the year around. I have known of families sacrificing their homes to come out here, where 'life is so easy it is heavenly.' Then when they do come, and even make purchases of small ranches, they strike the hardest proposition they ever dreamed of.

"Last winter when the smudge pots had been used to prevent the frost from killing the fruit on ranches less than fifty miles from this city and more than $50,000 worth of rugs, curtains and draperies were ruined a great cry went up—and it was hushed. But I was in the town and heard the laments and saw the dense smoke."

He declared that Californians, in a sneering way say to strangers: "If you are not a native we will not employ you. Go hungry or foot your way back. We have your money, and that is all we want."

Continuing he says: "Here in Northern California all vegetables are tough. Turnips and cabbage, especially, are very inferior."

Concluding, A. S. says: "I am writing this to you because I want those who are expecting to come to a place where they are met cordially and enjoy prosperity to think twice before coming."

Commenting on the article, J. C. Metzgar, secretary of Chamber of Commerce, said today that A. S. probably is the type of man who frequently comes to California determined to find nothing in the state that is pleasing to him. The secretary pointed out that his comment on the cordiality of California people and the laboring people evidences a distorted mind.

"Californians are noted for cordiality," said Metzgar. "As to strangers seeking employment being met with the response quoted by 'A. S.' it is the more'st bunk."

New Building Figures For 8 Months Tabulated

Checked and tabulated, Santa Ana's new building record for the month of August was 151 permits issued for $429,409 in new building. Collections for the month under the new schedule showed a total of $1094.40.

The complete report with comparative figures was as follows:

REALTOR PLANS TO BUILD BIG RESIDENCE

Another handsome mansion is to be added to the number developing for East Fourth street. It became known today, following announcement that Leo Borchard, well-known ranch operator and subdivider of this city, had purchased from H. H. Ballentine an acre in the S. H. Finley Home tract. The consideration is said to have been $7000.

The site has a frontage of 100 feet on East Fourth street and a depth of 400 feet. It lies between the homes of J. L. McBride, superintendent of county highways, and Col. S. H. Finley, supervisor and large property owner of Santa Ana.

Borchard said today that he would erect a fine residence on the property some time this fall. He declined to state definitely the possible cost, but answered "possibly" when queried as to whether the residence would cost in excess of $20,000.

WINTER TRAVEL TO BRING MANY

that will surpass all previous years.

Prepare Now
"The time to prepare for this great influx of Southern California residents, many of whom will aid in swelling Santa Ana's population, is now," declared J. C. Metzgar, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

Building Inspector Decker asserted that Santa Ana has been constantly increasing its home-building stride.

"There is every indication that this winter will see a record number of homes built here," Decker said.

Inquiries are received every day at the Chamber of Commerce office for suitable homes, Metzgar said.

"Every day we are asked to find homes for new families coming to Santa Ana to locate," the secretary said.

Local realtors have joined in the general cry for more homes here.

"We are constantly on the alert for rentals," they chorused. "Santa Ana is having a difficult time keeping its home-building stride in step with its population increase."

"New subdivisions are opened. Immediately construction of new homes begin. No sooner are they up than sold or rented and demand made for more. We expect this winter to be a record-breaker."

Hotels in Line
Santa Ana's hotels also are preparing for the winter season.

"The summer season ends with Labor day," declared G. A. Schweiger, manager of St. Ann's Inn. "Thereafter we begin preparations for the winter tourist."

"St. Ann's Inn has added many new families to Santa Ana's population in past winters. The hotel should add many more this season."

M. J. Cahill, manager of the Rossmore hotel, was of a similar opinion as to his own hostelry.

"The Rossmore hotel," he said, "has seen Santa Ana grow from a pioneer town to a prospective metropolitan of Southern California. Each day finds names on the hotel's register of new families looking for suitable homes here."

The coming winter will be the first season for the new hotel Cooper on North Main street. The hotel already has attained popularity, according to its management.

"Though opened but a month or so," W. H. Seabold, day clerk at the hotel said, "The Hotel Cooper has proven its place in the hotel life of Santa Ana. The winter will be a big and successful winter for the Hotel Cooper."

Rubber Eating Cows Worrying Farmers

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 6.—Cows with goat appetites worried Minnesota scientists.

In two townships in Norman county farmers declare their cows are eating rags, wood, old shoes and rubber. Lack of minerals in animal foods is believed to be responsible.

A group of scientists from the University of Minnesota will investigate and seek to discover corrective measures.

HARBOR CITY IS RESTRAINED IN LICENSE SUIT

Temporarily restrained from collecting a city license from the Long Beach Packing company, or from interfering with deliveries by that concern within its boundaries, the city of Newport Beach and its officials today were scheduled to appear in Superior Judge R. Y. Williams' court here tomorrow, at 2 p. m., and show cause why a permanent restraining order should not be issued by the court.

Judge Williams granted the temporary restraining order late yesterday and set the date for hearing the license controversy between the city and the packing company.

The packing company, in applying for the restraining order several days ago, objected to paying a license at Newport Beach because, it claimed, orders from patrons there were received directly at the plant in Long Beach and delivered from the plant directly to the patron, no local office or local delivery system being maintained at Newport Beach.

Marshal J. A. Porter and other city officials would interfere with the company's deliveries if not restrained, it was alleged.

The city's side of the case was expected to be presented at tomorrow's hearing.

Gasoline at 10 or 11 cents the gallon today loomed as a possibility at some of the independent stations, following a cut of 2 cents in the retail price by the big companies.

Under the new schedules, gasoline was being sold at stations of the larger companies here at 13 cents, the new price becoming effective this morning.

While the Standard, Union and Shell dropped 2 cents, the Ventura company cut only half a cent; the retail price of this product yesterday being 13 1/2 cents at stations controlled by the Ventura Supply company of this city.

It was predicted that independent companies whose retailers have been selling as low as 9 cents at different points in Southern California would cut to 7, 8 or 9 cents.

It was pointed out here that prices are returning to the level prevailing in the early history of the automobile, when gas could be bought for 7 cents and when 10 cents was considered a high quotation.

A MESSAGE TO THE BUILDING TRADES

—The Home Mutual Building & Loan Association has been in existence since April 1, 1893—thirty years. In that time we have assisted in the financing of many new homes in Santa Ana and Orange County.

—We have increased our activities each year, as our financial strength developed. It is an evident fact that with more capital at our disposal, the more building we can finance and the more work we can create for the building trades of this city and county.

—Every dollar we loan to home builders is divided among the members of the Building Trades of Orange County and we feel that, if the personnel of these crafts understood more thoroughly the absolute safety surrounding investments made with this Building and Loan Association, in any sum, with returns to the investor of Six Per Cent on our Term Investments and Seven Per Cent on our Monthly Investment plan, the books of this association would contain a far greater number of names of the men engaged in the building world.

—Aside from the worth-while interest paid by us on money invested, the investor is furnishing money to make possible more building.

—Our investors can cash promptly any money which they have placed with us—YOUR DOLLARS ARE ALWAYS WORTH 100 CENTS.

—There are many angles to our proposition which when explained will make you wonder why you haven't been enjoying the safe returns of a Building and Loan investment long before this.

—Come in, Mr. Contractor and Mr. Artisan, and find out how you can make your dollars do double duty through investment with us.

—Our applications for loans average over $75,000 monthly.

Our Aim is: "One Thousand New Members for 1923"

Most folks would feel secure if they could drive a nail through their dollars and hold them down. It would be a little difficult to get them loose for easy spending or unwise investment, wouldn't it, if a nice, new 8-penny nail held each one of them securely.

Did you ever stop to think that you do that very thing, nail your dollars securely, when you build a home?

On the other hand, did you ever hear of anyone driving a nail through a stack of old rent receipts?

That is just a little picture showing the difference between the home builder and the renter.

OUT AFTER NEW ADVENTURES: LAST FAILS

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 6.—General Lee Christmas who after having as he expressed it "pulled one foot from the grave," lies in a hospital here, with the prospect of getting out some time soon already is planning another venture in Central America.

This time, the man who has had a finger in the Latin-American revolutionary pie for the last thirty years and around whom Richard Harding Davis wrote his character of "Clay," hero of the novel "Soldiers of Fortune," is going gunning for oil in Guatemala. He is done with revolutions, he declared.

"I'm in Guatemala simply, exclusively and entirely for the purpose of prospecting for oil. I have convinced the Latin-American republics that I'm not out for any more disturbances. I'm a peaceful man these days."

The general is convalescing after a battle of eleven months with tropic fever; also a bullet within an inch of his heart, relic of a jungle fray, has come to life recently and is worrying him.

Tropic fever, the general said, had been chasing him for seven years and he had the word of physicians that he had outdistanced it when it laid him low eleven months ago. After exhausting the resources of the native physicians who, he said, only "dope me with some kind of oil," he went to a hospital in New York. The hospital got on his nerves and he decided to come to the New Orleans hospital.

Mate Favored 'Other Woman,' Wife Claims

Mrs. Marjorie L. Hyde seeks divorce and restoration of her maiden name, Davis, in a complaint against her husband, Roma G. Hyde, which suit was on file today in the superior court here, through Attorneys Allen and Lyon of Fullerton.

That her husband cared more for another woman than for his wife, and admitted such sentiment, was charged by Mrs. Hyde. She was finally deserted, May 14, 1923, she said.

LUNCHEON CLUB AIMS PRAISED BY EDUCATOR

"If we do not develop the spirit of the Lions, Kiwanis and Rotary clubs, and extend it to the other nations of the world, the white race in time will be wiped from the face of the earth."

Dr. Walter F. Dexter, new president of Whittier college, so declared today in a pointed address made before the Lions club, at St. Ann's Inn, on "The Safety of This Nation."

The educator said that the matter of the nation's safety should be built into the educational system of this country, which system, he said, would teach the value of giving sympathy, rendering service and winning service.

Hits Comparisons
He asserted that the art of teaching by comparison of one nation with another had been one of the tragedies of the educational systems of the United States.

Nations should ask themselves each day, he said, if they were better and more progressive than they were a year ago—if their accomplishments had been what they should have been. In effect, he advocated that each nation stand on its own performances and not make a comparison with another.

It was because of the efforts of Walter ("Spike") Spicer, chairman of the program committee, that the speaker was procured. The program opened with the appearance of two "baby" Lions, J. C. Wallace and Fred Wilde, in a lion's cage. Following their release they engaged in a water melon contest and later in the meeting were officially accepted as new members. While the two new members were engaged in the contest Georgia and Marjorie Walton entertained with a piano and violin duet. President Harry Hanson an-

GIRL, 12, DONOR TO HARDING MEMORIAL

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—Twelve-year-old Rosie Russ, the little Milwaukee girl who became known all over the nation as the sender of a letter of comfort to Mrs. Florence Harding during her illness, has written a letter to Mayor Rolph, inclosing a dollar's worth of stamps to be used for a monument to "Dear Mr. Harding."

When Mrs. Harding hovered between life and death in her illness that preceded with the presidential death, Rosie sent the First Lady a letter containing a sacred talisman which the child insisted would cure her if worn about the neck.

Mrs. Harding replied, thanking the child for her prayers in her behalf.

In the letter received by the mayor, Rosie said she had "read in the paper that San Francisco was erecting a monument to Dear Mr. Harding and I want to send something to help."

"I am a little girl, 12 years old, but I have always prayed for both Mr. and Mrs. Harding," she wrote.

Secretary John A. Henderson read an invitation to the club members to join the club at Huntington Beach in a swimming and dancing party at the beach Friday evening of next week.

"The Lions' Truth" was selected as the name of the new weekly bulletin issued by the club. Decision on the name was by vote of the membership after a committee had eliminated forty-five suggested names. The contest simmered down to the one chosen and "The Lions' Whiskers."

INSPECTION OF OIL FIELD BY LAWMAKERS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 6.—The local oil field yesterday was inspected by a party which included seven United States congressmen, one Virginia representative, and a large group of southern California oil men. Those interested in the further development of the oil industry in this region believe that the visit will have an important bearing on federal legislation dealing with the oil situation.

Visit Santa Fe Springs
The representatives, who joined the tour at the invitation of the American Petroleum Institute, left the Huntington hotel yesterday shortly before noon and motored to Santa Fe Springs. There they studied a map showing the geological conditions encountered in the development of oil in that field. After a general inspection of the field and study of drilling methods the party left for the Murphy-Coyote lease.

An inspection of the Northern pumping station was made en route. Luncheon was taken at the Murphy-Coyote lease of the Standard oil company. The party arrived here shortly after 3 o'clock and spent until 4:30 o'clock becoming acquainted with the wells and conditions here.

Stop at Long Beach
At 4:30 the men left for Long Beach and dinner was taken there at the Hotel Virginia. The night was passed there. The trip will end Saturday at San Francisco.

Two officers of the American Petroleum Institute, Thomas A. O'Donnell, president, and Norval White, western representative, accompanied the party here.

The congressmen will be given a better opportunity to learn what oil legislation is needed by means of the tour. Representative Clarence F. Lea of Santa Rosa declared here. Mr. Lea called attention to the fact that the discovery of the oil fields in southern California have increased production to a record total of 870,000 barrels a day as against 362,221 barrels a year ago.

In the party are Representatives Clarence F. Lea of Santa Rosa, and Mrs. Lea; Henry E. Barber, and Mrs. Barber, Fresno; P. H. Drewry, Petersburg, Va.; Arthur M. Free and Mrs. Free, San Jose; John D. Fredericks and Mrs. Fredericks, Los Angeles; Walter F. Lineberger and Mrs. Lineberger, Long Beach; James H. MacLafferty, Oakland, and Phil D. Swing, San Diego.

PERSONAL NOTES OF BEACH PEOPLE

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 6.—Arrangements are being made by the American Legion post of this city to secure the city council room at the city hall as a place in which to hold their meetings, until such a time as they have a clubhouse or meeting place of their own.

James A. Halliday of 711 California street has had electric lights installed in his home.

Miss Edna McKeon spent one day last week in Los Angeles.

F. W. McCain of 909 England street is moving his house to a new location.

The Pacific Gasoline Corporation located on the northwest corner of Golden West avenue and the first cross road north of Garfield, have installed an electric welder.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Mitchell have been entertaining Mrs. and George Hellyer of Highland. Mr. and Mrs. Hellyer are old friends of the Mitchells.

The American Legion News, which is published in San Francisco, is to have a special Huntington Beach section in it, according to word received here today.

The section will tell about the development of Huntington Beach and dwell extensively on the merits and accomplishments of this section of the country and its inhabitants. It will appear in one of the issues about the first of October, it is said.

James Kelly of Los Angeles has been visiting at the home of his sister, Mrs. G. H. Wallin for a few days.

The local Southern California Edison company has rendered service to the following people during the past few days.

Residence lights have been installed for Bertha Terry, P. M. Moss, George W. Bradley of 2254 First street, new wires, F. M. Pleenor, and Adrain Jones have had new meters installed. C. H. Alton had tap service for the carnival held in connection with the Labor Day celebration.

The Palace Garage at 210 Third street had a service motor installed.

Deer Slayer Fined $50 at Petaluma
PETALUMA, Sept. 6.—Dave Bastoni was arrested at Sebastopol by Deputy Game Commissioners Lencloni and Groves on a charge of killing a doe at Skaggs' Springs, Sonoma county. Bastoni was brought here when he pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $50.

RETURNS TO BEACH.
HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 6.—Mrs. R. V. Williams, formerly of this city and a former employee in the local Edison office, has returned to Huntington Beach and is again at her old place at the electric office. She had been away from the city and visiting friends for the past two years.

"Good Spanking" Turns Out to Be Birthday Affair

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 6.—Grey Hazard of 627 Tenth street was given a delightful surprise party at his home here Wednesday afternoon when a number of his small friends and playmates called on him to "give him a good spanking."

The afternoon was spent at games by the children. Later the young folks were called to the table where a large birthday cake bearing twelve candles graced the center of the table. Ice cream, nuts, candies and cake were served to the hungry young guests. The table was decorated with dahlia and ferns.

Those present were Miss Larch Fyock, Miss Margaret Burnett, Arthur Ryan, Earl Findley, Crag Snadell, Gordon Fyock, Oswald Burnett and the little host, Grey Hazard.

UNDERTAKER HAS ROLE IN PULPIT

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 6.—Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Brown and son, Wylie, of Los Angeles were guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Harrell Sunday. Mr. Brown is a Los Angeles undertaker and embalmer. Mr. Harrell, local undertaker, was instrumental in getting Mr. Brown to come to Huntington Beach to deliver the sermon at the morning service of the First Baptist church in the absence of Pastor Luther A. Arthur, who is visiting relatives in the east.

Mr. Harrell gave a very interesting talk on the "Laymen in the Church." The program for next Sunday has not yet been announced. It is thought that Prof. Clark H. Reid, of the grammar school, will have charge of the services.

BEACH BOYS WILL TAKE HARD TESTS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 6.—Four local boys will take the Junior Life Saving test at Long Beach tonight.

They are Gene Belshe, "Bud" Higgins, Neal Paulkner and Kenneth Glen all of them proteges of Life Guard Harry Lee. For many weeks Lee has been working with the boys teaching them holds, breaks, and also how to manage the life boat, which was recently purchased.

Several times this year the boys have been of invaluable assistance to the guard. They have assisted at most of the rescues this season.

"Gene Belshe is already one of the strongest swimmers on the coast, for his age," declared Harry Lee. "Next year I expect to have them helping me regularly. Gene should be nearly as capable as myself by next season."

"Bud" Higgins is another one who will prove a great help to the guard next season. Both of these two boys have recently been taught how to manage the life boat and are becoming expert in its use. Both are exceptionally strong swimmers, and have pulled one person from the surf in a strong current this season, unassisted.

The boys are confident of passing the examination, as they have been practicing the holds and breaks required for several days. They will be accompanied by Long Beach by Harry Lee.

MISSING BROTHER SOUGHT BY POLICE

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 6.—City police officers and sheriffs in Los Angeles and southern California cities have been asked by R. A. Hood of Huntington Beach to assist in the search for R. M. Hood, his brother.

According to R. A. Hood his brother recently arrived in Los Angeles from El Paso, Tex., and then disappeared and has not been heard from since.

$46,568 Expended On New Buildings
At Beach In Month

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 6.—Two building permits were issued over the week-end by the local engineering department.

H. B. Smith of 611 Tenth street secured a permit to build a six room house and garage on his lot at the above address. The house will cost about $2,200.

A. M. Anderson of 410 Seventh street was given a permit to build a garage on his lot to cost about $150.

Building activity here is steadily on the increase over last year, it is shown by the monthly report of the permits. Permits to the value of $913,117 have been issued up to Sept. 1, 1923, was $46,568, represented by thirty permits, while last year a total expenditure of $49,970 was represented in twenty-one permits.

AUXILIARY TO MEET FRIDAY EVENING

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 6.—An elaborate program has been prepared by the committee appointed for the arranging of the program this Friday night, at the regular meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary, to be held at the Woman's clubhouse on Tenth street.

Several of the numbers on the program are as follows: Interpretive dance by Miss Ruth Mitchell of this city; original piano solo by Mrs. Jack Colvin.

The feature of the evening will be a college football game and track meet. The meet will be a would-be contest between two well known colleges, and will include a 100-yard dash, a 50-yard dash, and other events. A chewing gum contest will play an important part in the fun-making.

A college song and yell contest is also to be held in connection with this track meet and football game. Prizes are to be awarded to the winners.

Another feature of the evening will be a series of poems written by one of the local Legion men. The author of the poems has never displayed his talent in public before, and the Legion Auxiliary feels highly honored.

SANTA ANA PEOPLE PICNIC AT BEACH

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 6.—The Missionary society members of the Methodist church, South, of Santa Ana met on the beach here last week to hold their regular annual get-together meeting.

The meeting at the beach was held in place of the annual supper given by the society of the church. Nearly eighty members of the church and Missionary society were present at the beach party. After a dinner on the tables under the pier they adjourned to the sand where various games were in order. Many of the younger people took advantage of the occasion atforded to go swimming.

REBEKAHS GATHER WITH I. O. O. F. MEN

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 6.—Nearly eighty members of the Rebekah and Odd Fellows lodges were present at a beach supper held on the sand at the foot of the pier last week.

One of the participants declared that they "had everything imaginable in the way of good things to eat."

After the supper the Rebekahs retired to the local hall, and held their weekly meeting while the Odd Fellows motored to Orange to witness the first degree conferred on several new members there.

AMPUTATE FINGERS OF SHELL WORKER

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 6.—G. W. Mansparger of Garder Grove, employed by the Shell Oil company, who was injured several days ago, had the third and fourth fingers of his right hand amputated yesterday.

Dr. R. E. Hawes performed the operation, after making an attempt to save the injured members by sewing the mon after they were nearly severed.

Louis Smith of this city received injuries making it necessary to amputate three fingers of his right hand yesterday while unloading pipe from the truck which he drives. His third and fifth fingers of the right hand were taken off at the first joint.

Fred Boratto of this city dropped a casing on his foot, badly smashing his third and fourth toes. He is employed by the McKee Drilling company.

Guy Edgington of this city caught his left hand in a chain, fracturing the third and fourth metacarpal bones of the left hand and badly cutting and bruising the arm and hand. He is employed by the Pacific Petroleum company.

G. W. Hayes of Costa Mesa, employed by the Holly Oil company, stepped on a rusty spike on the floor of the derrick and received a severe puncture of the foot at the base of the large toe.

L. Thorpe, a riveter for the Union Construction company, S. Hockanson, foreman for the Union Construction company, and J. Trotter, a boilermaker for the Union Construction company, reported to the hospital with foreign substances in their eyes Saturday.

Heart Disease Is Blamed For Death

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 6.—Chris Weiner, about 69 years of age, of Los Angeles, who was found dead here yesterday morning was found to have died of valvular disease of the heart, yesterday noon by the coroner's jury.

Weiner, a native of Germany, came to America with his parents when he was 11 years of age. He has a brother and a sister in Grass Valley, Ill., who were notified of his death by wire. The body is being held at the Harrell undertaking parlors, pending word from his relatives.

Radio supplies—Hawley's.

Oil Workers Will Have Annual Ball On Monday Evening

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 6.—Arrangements were today nearly complete for the first Annual Ball and dance to be given by the Oil Workers union, at the municipal auditorium Monday night.

A meeting of the Auxiliary will be held tonight to decide on further plans for the affair and also to decide upon refreshments for the crowd.

There will be old fashioned dancing from 9 until 10 o'clock. The music for the occasion will be furnished by the Huntington orchestra, a special union orchestra.

LOMITA PEOPLE AT BEACH AS VISITORS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 6.—Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Wells and family, of Lomita, were visitors at the home of Mr. L. T. Wells recently.

The entire party enjoyed a motor trip to Riverside and surrounding country Sunday.

Tham Kallas has rented part of the store on Main street owned by Mr. Swartz of Long Beach and will open a new fruit and vegetable store there in the near future.

Charles Lyons, William Seltzer and John Whitsett were visitors in Los Angeles Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Forest E. Dowty have returned from an extended visit at Murietta, Calif.

GAS METERS ARE STILL IN DEMAND

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 6.—Gas meters are still in demand as is shown by the report of the gas department at the end of the month with a total of 77 meters installed for the month and a start of eight meters for September.

Meters installed up to the first of September are as follows: J. Sears, 2109 Acacia street; R. V. Manson, 224½ Second street; William Conner, 523½ Eleventh street.

Meters which have been installed so far this month are as follows: S. D. Tinker, 712 Huntington avenue; Fred J. Martin, 319 Eighth street; W. M. Turpin, 510 Ninth street; John Haxton, 211 First street; Mrs. William Watkins, 431 Lake street; Mrs. L. Robinson, 109 Acacia street; Elsie Chambers, 306 Fourteenth street.

Sheriff Accused By World War Veteran

SPOKANE, Sept. 5.—Leslie R. Hurt, national director of publicity of the World war veterans' organization, is going to investigate reports that harvest workers have been thrown into jail and held "incommunicado" by Sheriff Cole of Whitman county for exercising their rights of free speech, he announced here while on a Northwest membership drive.

He charged Sheriff Cole with taking it upon himself to abridge the constitution of the United States. Among other things, the veterans' organization program calls for release of political prisoners and immediate recognition of the Russian government, according to Hurt.

Divorce Seeker Says Man Hates America

LODI, Sept. 6.—Mrs. Jeanette Zeillemaker of this city seeks a divorce from her husband, William Zeillemaker, custody of two minor boys and $60 a month for their support on the ground that he refused to allow the English language spoken in their home; that he was opposed to American ideas, customs, institutions and everything American; that he made her stop taking a course in the English language at a night school; that in derision he burned an American flag and also burned war savings stamps purchased by the children. The couple were married on May 23, 1907, at Deventer, Holland.

Pioneer Editor, Taken By Death, Gains Fame

SANTA CRUZ, Sept. 1.—Arthur A. Taylor, editor and publisher of the Daily Surf for many years, which was founded by him in the early 80s, died at the family residence. He came here from New York in 1875 and entered upon a journalistic career, taking over the Courier-Item, a weekly paper, and later he started the Daily Surf. He was recognized as one of the strong editorial writers of the state. Of late years he was engaged in compiling a history of Santa Cruz county, which was unfinished at the time of his death.

Taylor was elected mayor in 1917 and served the city for two years. He served as commissioner of the California Redwood park under appointment by Hiram Johnson when the latter was governor.

It was through Taylor's efforts, in a great measure, that this grove was saved to posterity. He was a native of New York, 74 years old and leaves a widow, Mrs. Mary P. Taylor. The funeral will be private.

COMPTON PEOPLE AT BEACH

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 6.—Mr. and Mrs. Wade Key of Compton spent Monday visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Burnett.

Mrs. J. H. Eader, and Miss Clara Clark of this city, who have been spending the past month with their parents at Delta, Utah, returned home today.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Suter, who have been spending some time touring in the northern part of the state, Washington and Oregon, returned this week.

S. F. MAYOR IN MOVE FOR BIG BAY BRIDGE

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—All counties in Northern California interested in the building of the Golden Gate bridge were invited by Mayor Rolph, in a communication sent to their boards of supervisors, to join in the organization of bridge and highway districts as required under the Coombs enabling act passed by the last session of the legislature. This letter by the mayor of San Francisco constitutes the first definite move toward starting the procedure necessary to launch the work of securing the permits from the war department and formulating the plans for the construction of the vehicular span across Golden Gate.

The Coombs act, which became a law on August 18, defines the steps to be taken in forming the bridge and highway districts and provides the necessary legal machinery to construct the proposed bridge.

At a meeting held this summer in the city hall representatives of several county boards of supervisors pledged themselves heartily in favor of building the bridge that will connect San Francisco with Marin county and the counties of Northern and Central California.

Supervisor Richard J. Welch of San Francisco has been a prominent support of the project and urged the representatives of the counties at that session to take immediate steps to join the bridge districts as soon as the Coombs act became a law.

The first step, Mayor Rolph stated, would be the adoption by the county boards of ordinances declaring their intention in participating in the bridge movement.

All county boards, Mayor Rolph pointed out, hold sessions next month and urged that some action, favorable, or unfavorable, be taken at that time.

Seeks to Recover In Court Here On Note

Hammond Nixon today had filed suit in the superior court here against D. C. Kiser and other defendants, asking judgment for $1500 alleged to be due on a note.

Attorney Clyde Bishop represents the plaintiff.

Man Held to Answer On Forgery Charge

Charged with forging a check, E. Sargosa was held in the county jail here today in default of bail, pending arraignment in the superior court here. Sargosa was held to answer by Justice J. B. Cox at a preliminary hearing held yesterday.

DANSEUSE IS ONE OF ELEVEN PARTICULAR STARS WITH CIRCUS

Bertha Beeson, who dances on the tight wire with the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey circus and whose costume contains 70,000 rhinestones.

It's the narrowest "runway" in the world and the most dangerous and slippery of all ballroom floors. It is less than two-thirds of an inch wide. And yet, on this mere thread of steel, Bertha Beeson, the world's greatest danseuse of the tight wire performs more intricate feats and executes more difficult steps than do those professionals who dance upon the ground.

Bertha Beeson is that graceful, chiton-clad person wearing a costume blazing with 70,000 rhinestones, who will for four minutes command the attention of spectators when the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey shows exhibit here next Tuesday.

A maid, dressed in a French rock, accompanies the wire artist to and from the rings. A private dressing "car" and seven trunks of wardrobe are carried in one end of this. The maid will tell you that it takes Bertha Beeson exactly two hours to "make up". The act is without question the most elaborately costumed and the most rapidly performed wire act ever seen in America.

With the mammoth circus this season are 700 men and women performers. Of this number are eleven for whom the entire program is stopped for a moment that they may be introduced. Beeson is one of the eleven particular stars.

S. A. RESERVISTS GAIN EXPERIENCE

Naval reservists from Santa Ana on the cruise to Magdalena bay are getting real sea experience, according to information received here today from Ensign Francis Westgate.

Twenty-two Santa Ana men are on the Eagle boat which today was plowing through the waters from San Diego south. Departing from San Pedro last week the cruise included Catalina and Santa Barbara.

From the latter point, Santa Ana men were in charge of the ship, going on duty on the midnight shift, according to Westgate.

"To have heard Seth Cox, James Lippincott and Clyde Arnold use naval vernacular, one would have thought they had been sailors all their lives," writes the Ensign. "And with Jeff Hoses and Warren Hamilton at the wheel and Dana Lamb on the quarter-deck job, the impression was created that Santa Ana is a sailor town."

"The attitude and the aptitude of the members of the Santa Ana unit elicited favorable comment from the officers."

The boat left San Diego yesterday afternoon.

Asserted 'Masher,' 22, Jailed on Complaint Made by Local Girls

"Thou shalt not mash." The "eleventh commandment" was posted here today by City Marshal Claude Rogers, as he filed charges against Grady Rutherford, 22, fugitive of Orange.

"Mashing" being hard to define under present laws, the complaint against Rutherford read "disturbing the peace."

The police claim that Rutherford was endeavoring to gain feminine passengers for his little gas buggy built for two.

The would-be passengers objected and called an officer. Officer Barnard frowned and rushed Rutherford to jail.

Husband Threatened Life, Wife Asserts

Asserted ill treatment of his wife by George Tinsley forced her to leave him, Mrs. Hazel Tinsley, the wife, stated in her suit for divorce, which was on file today in the superior court here, through Attorney Clyde Bishop.

Mrs. Tinsley declared that her husband threatened her life. She left him last July 26, she stated. They were married April 24, 1920.

OPENS APARTMENTS

Mrs. G. W. White today announced that she had leased the apartments in the new Cope building, 610 1-2 West Fourth street, and had completed furnishing them for light housekeeping. Mrs. White, who resided in Santa Ana many years, recently has been conducting apartments at Long Beach. She says that she has attractively fitted up the new apartments here.

Local Man In Law Partnership at L. A.

Many friends in Santa Ana and Orange county of George W. Dryer were interested today in the announcement that he had formed a co-partnership with Otis H. Castle, under the firm name of Dryer and Castle, for the general practice of law in Los Angeles.

Philip H. Richards also will be associated with the firm. The offices of the new firm will be in the L. N. Van Nuys building.

George Dryer is the son of Dr. and Mrs. John L. Dryer, corner of Sixth and Spurgeon streets, this city. He was educated in the public schools here and at Stanford university.

BOY, 9, WEEPS AS GUINEA PIG STOLEN

Who but the meanest kind of rotter or young bully would steal a pet guinea pig from a 9-year-old boy?

This the police here asked today as Ivan Brown, 326 East Sixth street, had come with tears in his eyes to tell them about his loss. Earl Leatz, night desk sergeant, heard the tale. He said he was ready to weep, too, with mortification that such contemptible petty thefts could occur.

Ivan kept his pet in a wire cage. It was much admired by other boys in the neighborhood, as it was petted by its owner. Then it was stolen. Ivan isn't a baby, but he couldn't help letting a tear or two fall.

WALL ST. JOURNAL FINANCIAL REVIEW

Market Strong As Secretary Mellon Optimistic Regarding Japan

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Today's stock market did not have quite the snap of Wednesday's session, but it was vigorous enough to carry a few stocks into new high ground for the current recovery, including such representative issues as Continental Can. and DuPont. Moreover, most of the other industrial leaders, like Baldwin, American Locomotive, Studebaker and Steel, not only regained their losses from last week's close, but got back to within striking distance of the best levels reached on the rally from the July lows.

Reassuring word from Secretary Mellon regarding Japan's financial ability to withstand the economic aftermath of the earthquake helped matters along. But the principal factors behind the display of strength was further evidence which came to hand of the extent to which the summer let-up in business activity had been over-estimated.

Prices in the main body of stocks scored no further recovery in the late afternoon, but a steady tone was maintained around the day's best levels. Special attention for the motive was focused on the movement of industrial stocks, such as Davison Chemical, Continental Can and DuPont which gained further ground in the final dealings.

The market closed irregular. Closing prices included:

U. S. Steel 83, off 1-8; Gulf States Steel 83, off 3-8; Baldwin 124 3-4, off 1-8; American Locomotive 74 1-4, off 3-4; Texas Co. 42, off 1-4; Sinclair 39 3-4, off 2-4; Studebaker 105 3-4, off 1-4; DuPont 137 1-4, off 1-8; American Can 98 5-8, off 1-8; Davison Chemical 104 1-4, off 1-8; Baco Products 55 1-4, off 5-8; Retail Stores 77, off 1-2; Cuban American Sugar 58 3-4, off 1-4; Corn Products 57, off 1-8; Southern Pacific 88, off 1-8; Canadian Pacific 142 1-2, off 1-8; Atchafalaya 1-2, off 1-8; Western Central 78, off 1-8; Great Northern 68 1-4, off 5-8.

they ask one another. Soldiers and police keep close watch with drawn swords to prevent panic that might end in the self destruction of thousands more. The streets still are filled with dead bodies, despite attempts at wholesale cremation in the burning buildings in some sections. Looking down from his plane into one street, a correspondent saw what he believed to be the bodies of at least three thousand victims in the length of a mile.

South Presbyterian Missionaries Safe

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 6.—A cablegram received here today by C. L. Willis, treasurer of the church mission board, announced that all missionaries of the Southern Presbyterian church in the earthquake area of Japan, were safe. The message was filed at Karuizawa, Japan, by L. C. Smythe, formerly of Charleston, S. C., a mission worker abroad.

Episcopal Church Suffers Huge Loss In Tokio Disaster

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—The establishments of the Episcopal church in Tokio, were wiped out, a cablegram received by Dr. John W. Wood, of the department of missions from Bishop Merkin of Tokio, said today. All missionaries, however, are safe. The property destroyed includes St. Luke's hospital, two schools, the cathedral, seven schools in various parts of the city and the bishop's and fifteen other residences.

POOR STRAWBERRIES REACH S. F. MARKET

(By United Press Leased Wire) SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—Many of the strawberries are said to be arriving in an overripe condition. Raspberries continue to sell at low prices. Large sized oranges are in demand and prices on these sizes are about 25c higher to the box. Peaches were in fair demand at unchanged prices.

Receipts: Cars—Watermelons 7, grapes 5; apples 3; peaches 3; cantaloupes 5; oranges 1; pears 1; grapefruit 1; mixed fruits and vegetables 2. Cantaloupes on track 9, broken 9.

The potato market is firm under good demand and moderate receipts, with best river stock selling from $2.00 to $2.15 per cwt. Yellow onions are said to be selling from $2.00 to $2.10 per cwt. at the wharf, while good brown onions are selling around $2.25.

Receipts: Cars—Tomatoes 15; potatoes, (Washington) 3; potatoes on track 6; broken 3.

The poultry market is holding about steady with a fair movement of stock reported. Two cars of live poultry from Nebraska and one from Oklahoma were reported late yesterday. One hundred and eighty-one coups were also received by local express.

EX-ATTORNEY ASKS $50,000 IN ACTION

Damages in the sum of $50,000 are asked by Daniel O'Connell, former local attorney, of Maurice Swim, head of a San Francisco collection agency, in a suit filed in the superior court.

O'Connell alleges that on July 30, 1920, Swim swore to a complaint in the United States district court by which he petitioned the court to declare O'Connell bankrupt.

Because of the petition O'Connell asserts it was necessary for him to expend approximately $50,000. O'Connell further avers that the petition was heard by a jury in the United States district court on August 28, 1923, and that it was dismissed.

It is also stated by O'Connell in the complaint that he was not insolvent at the time the petition was filed by Swim.

AUTOIST BEATEN BY GANG

SAN RAFAEL, Sept. 6.—Rather than drive an automobile while under the influence of liquor, J. Dalton of Courtland took a severe beating at the hands of several male companions at Woodacre. He was brought to the emergency hospital here with a broken jaw and bruising and abrasions of the face and body. He declined to divulge the names of the companions who attempted to force him to drive the car.

In proportion to population sixteen times as many divorces are granted in the United States as in Canada.

GRAIN PRICES JUMP ON CHICAGO MARKET

(By United Press Leased Wire) CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—All grains displayed strength and closed fractionally higher on the Chicago board of trade today.

There was little realizing late in the day, but all deliveries in wheat showed a firm undertone at fractional gains.

September deliveries of corn were fractionally lower, but the later months registered fair advances. According to an Iowa state crop report, excessive rainfall was general in the grain belt.

Oats were fractionally higher. Argentine shipments for the week were 70,000 bushels. Provisions firmed up and there was some foreign buying.

'HORNET' ADAMS IS EASY DELHI VICTOR

Stings Sailor Kolsey With Many Punches; Frenchie
Wins From Gatten

DELHI RESULTS.
Johnny Adams won from Sailor Ray Kolsey, decision.
Ted Frenchie won from Henry Gatten, decision.
Billy Herold won from Kid
Louie, decision.
Red Murphy won from Frankie Kress, decision.
Babe Orton stopped Jimmie
Brown, second round.
Joe Moore stopped Kid Carson, first round.

By RINGSIDER.
When Sailor Ray Kolsey, Huntington Beach 128-pound boxer, hopped out of bed this morning he probably played a little game of checkers. He undoubtedly played it with his face, using his fingers as kings to jump here and there in a vain effort to find some spot that wasn't sore, that didn't hurt when he pressed on it.

Sailor Ray, substituting in the main event at Delhi last night for Billy Alvarez, ran right into four rounds of hornet's nest milling.
Johnny Adams, the San Bernardino boy, was the nest of hornets.
His right and left hands were the hornets that stung Kolsey no less than 500 times in those twelve minutes of punching.

Kolsey gave But Outclassed.

Kolsey gave But Outclassed.
Kolsey gave But Outclassed.

The Adams-Kolsey affair topped one of the best bills Delhi bugs have seen this season. Aside from the two curtain raisers, which ended abruptly, every other bout was crammed full of action and there was plenty of variety.

The shambling Ted Frenchie, Los Angeles colored boy, kept the bugs in good humor through his semi-fatal melee with Henry Gat-ten, local middleweight. Frenchie was an easy winner but he either couldn't or didn't try very hard to hurt Gatten.

Frenchie Provides Fun.
It was a mirth provoking session with Frenchie skipping around the ring, swinging his long arms in grotesque fashion. Once Gatten slung him with a hard right to the button but the good-natured colored boy only winked at the crowd and flapped his gloves in the general direction of his opponent.

Kid Louie, Placentia "sheik," won the other half of the semi-wind-up—only he didn't. Billy Herold plainly fouled him with a low left hand early in the first round. Louie fell to the floor and they hauled him to his corner.
After a brief rest Billy Darnley, his manager, allowed him to go on and fight rather than "crab" the show.

Herold Outpoints 'Sheik.'
From then on Herold won all the way. He had an edge in the second frame, broke even in the third and had Louie very fatigued up to the final canto. It was the general consensus of opinion at the ringside that Herold's obvious foul didn't take half the steam from Louie as did Herold's accurate shots to the "sheik's" midsection.

Red Murphy uppercutted Frankie Kress to death in the feature
"prelim," winding handily. At that Murphy, in none too good condition, was much more "all in"
at the finish than his rugged opponent who tried to fight Murphy in close too much.

Babe Orton straightened up Jimmie Brown with a left to the jaw in the second round and then floored him with a crashing right to the stomach that ended the bout right then and there.

Joe Moore stopped Kid Carson with one punch in the first round of the eye-opener.

FIRPO CONFIDENT AS BIG BOUT NEAR

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 6.
—Just a little more than a week before he is to enter the ring with Jack Dempsey to decide the heavyweight championship of the world, Luis Angel Firpo, the South American giant, looks ready and seems more than willing to go.

The usual manifestations of nerves which get most fighters as they approach the day of the big fight are not evident in the big Argentinian.

They are rather noticeable by their absence.

Firpo still insists, when pressed for an opinion about his chances, that he is sure he is going to win,
and bears out that attitude of superior confidence in every act. He is taking his work most seriously and is having fun along with the tedium of training in reading the things that are being written about him.

"No work today," was announced
this morning at the Firpo camp.
His trainers said they were going to do their best to keep their charge from going through his training routine. It was said that he would probably spend the day going over his books and balancing his accounts. This will be in line with duty, as he is his own manager as well as the fighting end of the firm.

Cane Pole Walnut Shakers
A new lot of long cane poles for shaking off walnuts. Hawley's

JESS WILLARD SAYS FIRPO NOT HALF AS GREEN AS BOXING CRITICS THINK

Is Luis Angel Firpo a second Jim Jeffries?
I don't propose to answer that question, although I worked up a tremendously intimate and comprehensive acquaintance with Firpo one evening in July. But I offer it to fight fans as a fertile subject for speculation.

It is true for a certainty that the blast from a siege gun. He puts talk about Firpo as he faces his championship battle with Jack Dempsey is exactly on a line with the dope on Jeffries when he tackled Bob Fitzsimmons.

The experts objected that Jeffries was too green and lacking in polish. They had to admit he was strong and game, but they didn't allow him a chance against the experienced title holder. But everybody knows what happened.

Thrives on Tough Ones
Firpo is a great big tough fellow who thrives on hard blows. Your first simply bounces off him. In the seventh round of our fight, for instance, I shot two hard ones in succession straight to his jaw. I pressed the button for him, all right, but it didn't turn out the light. He seemed to come on stronger every round.

And when Firpo hits, it's like a

Jack Miller, Seal Manager, Called By Death at Saranac

KEARNY, N. J., Sept. 6.— John "Dots" Miller, manager of the San Francisco team of the Pacific Coast baseball league, on a leave of absence because of illness, died at Saranac Lake, N. Y., last night of tuberculosis, according to relatives here.

Miller, former captain of the St. Louis National League club, left the diamond to join the marines during the war.
He was gassed and has not been well since his return from overseas.

Miller's team won the pennant in the coast league last year and was leading the circuit when he left the club because of illness. Miller also formerly played with Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

NOTE: This is the first of a series of three articles to appear on the sporting page of The Register. They were written by Jess Willard, former Champion Jack Dempsey and Chal-

The critics keep referring to his inexperience. That is not to be denied, although he appears to be making quick improvement.

Firpo Real Fighter
It is a mistake to underestimate him. Firpo isn't a popular personality, but if you want a fighter, that's what he is.

I don't say Firpo will win from Dempsey, but he has more chance than most people think. Take it from me that he is a real wild bull. He has been fighting steadily without any soft living and he is ready to do his best with everything to gain and nothing to lose.

Firpo's greatest asset, I believe, is his ruggedness. He is the kind of fighter who can let his opponent wear himself out and break his hands pounding on him. And then Firpo can finish him. Incidentally, he is handiest with his

M'AULIFFE PICKS FIRPO AS WINNER

Dempsey's Old K. O. Wallop Gone Says Former Lightweight Champ

By JACK M'AULIFFE (Retire Undeclared Lightweight Champion)

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—As sure as the sun ever rose, for the first time in the history of Pistiana we will have a non-English speaking heavyweight champion of the world on the night of September 14 if Jack Dempsey doesn't change his training methods.

When he met Jess Willard he could out-sock any man in the world. I did not see him in the Brennan fight and in his list fight with Tom Gibbons, but I was at a loss to understand how they could stay with him. The way he socked in Toledo no man could stay in front of him for six rounds.

After watching him train for three weeks in Saratoga, I believe he has lost his punch because he has lost his strength, wind and endurance.

Two weeks ago in Schenectady
I was the third man in the ring when he boxed an exhibition with Julius Rioux, his big sparring partner. He tried with all his might to knock out Rioux with a right cross but he could not. I lengthened the last round at his request and he could not stop him. Dempsey has sidetracked his cave man stuff and he is trying to be an artist. Dempsey is not a boxer. His forte is speed and sock. He has tried to make himself clever and he had lost much of that speed and hitting power.

Dempsey must get back to his Toledo form and forget about a one-punch knockout. He has been wasting three weeks at Saratoga and doing himself more harm than good. I doubt very much that he can get himself in the proper shape in another week and I really believe that he is going to lose the fight unless he quite burnish himself out and conserves his strength.

The Studebaker Light-Six
Five-Door Touring Car

$1210

Don't Experiment
Buy a 1924 Studebaker

The 1924 Studebaker Light-Six Touring car, with its refinements and improvements, offers the closest approach to mechanical perfection in moderate priced cars yet produced.

It continues to set the pace in the amount of value for the money invested. No radical departure from approved design has been attempted. There's nothing experimental about it—everything of recognized merit. Every vital unit has proved its satisfaction in the public use.

No matter how much money you expect to invest in a car, by all means see this Light-Six Touring car, ride in it—and drive it yourself. It is then that you realize the difference.

New all-steel body of striking beauty. One-piece, rain-proof windshield with attractive cowl lights at base. Quick-action cowl ventilator. Door curtains, bound on three sides by steel rods, open with doors. Removable upholstery in tonneau. Door pocket flaps with weights hold them in shape. Upholstered in genuine leather. Large rectangular window in rear curtain. Thief-proof transmission lock.

Comparison with other cars costing more—or less—will provide convincing proof of its greater dollar-for-dollar value, its dependable performance, ample power, extreme comfort, and many other desirable features.

The Light-Six is practically free from vibration because Studebaker machines the crankshaft and connecting rods on all surfaces. No other manufacturer follows this practice on a car at anywhere near the Light-Six price. This is just one of many superiorities.

After seventy-one years, the name Studebaker enjoys confidence and respect more than ever.

THE ISLE OF RETRIBUTION

EDISON MARSHALL

© LITTLE, BROWN & COMPANY, 1923

Ned Cornet goes on a voyage to Northern Canada and Alaska for his father, Godfrey Cornet. He is to exchange two thousand silk and velvet gowns with the Indians for fine furs. The profits are to be split 75-25, the lion's share to Ned. Seven persons go on the ship with Ned. His fiancée, Lenore Hardenworth, and her mother; Bess Gilbert, a seamstress; Captain Knutson, assisted by McNab and Forest and one cook.

Mrs. Hardenworth objects to eating at the same table with the seamstress. Bess resolves to avoid the three aristocrats. Ned is polite to Bess when occasionally they meet, but Lenore and her mother ignore the girl.

As the voyage continues and the weather grows colder much discomfort is felt by Mrs. Hardenworth and Lenore who have come unsuitably clothed for a sea voyage.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

The name of the craft was the Charon! The thought chilled him and dismayed him.

For all his boasted realism, Ned Cornet had never got away from superstition. Man is still not far distant from the Cave and Spite. Superstition is a specter from out the dead centuries that haunts all his days. The coincidence that their craft, plying through these deathly waters, should bear such a name as the Charon suddenly suggested a dark possibility to Ned. All at once this man, heretofore so sure, so self-sufficient, so incredulous of anything except his own continued glory and happiness and life, was face to face with the first fear—the simple, primitive fear of death.

Was that his fate at the journey's end? Not mere trial, mere hardship and stress and adventure, but uncompromising death! Was he experiencing a premonition? Was that training camp soon to be a reality, as terribly real as these cold seas and this sky of stars, instead of a mere figment of an old man's childish fancy?

The thought troubled and haunted him, but it proved to be the best possible influence for the man himself. For the first time in his life Ned Cornet was awake. He had been dreaming before: for the first time he had awakened to life. Fear, disaster, the dreadful omnipotence of fate were no longer empty words to him: they were stern and immutable realities. He knew what the wolf knows when he howls to the winter moon from the snow-swept ridge: that he was a child in the hands of Powers so vast and awful that the sublimest human thought could not even reach to them! He could see, dimly as yet but unmistakably, the shadow of that travail that haunts men's days from the beginning to the end.

His father's blood, and in some degree his father's wisdom, was beginning to manifest itself in him. It was only a whispered voice as yet, wholly to be disregarded in the face of too great temptation, yet nevertheless it was the finest and most hopeful thing in his life. And it came particularly clear one still, mysterious night, shortly after the dinner hour, as he faced the North from the deck of the Charon.

The schooner's auxiliary engines had pumped her through Unimak Pass by now, the passage between Unimak and Akun Islands, and now she had launched forth into that wide, western portal of the Arctic—Bering Sea. Still the wonderful succession of bright days had endured no less than marvelous, along the mist-swept southern shore of the peninsula, but now the brisk, salty wind from the northwest indicated an impending weather change. It had been a remarkably clear and windless day, and the night had come down, so swiftly and so soon, was of strange and stirring beauty. The stars had an incredible luster; the sea itself was of an unimagined purple, marvelously deep—such a color as scientists might find lying beyond the spectrum. And Ned's eyes, tonight, were not dulled by the effects of strong drink.

For some reason that he himself could not satisfactorily explain Ned hadn't partaken of his usual afternoon whiskey-and-sodas. He simply wasn't in a drinking mood, steadfastly refusing to partake. Lenore though she had never made it a point to encourage Ned's drinking habits, could not help but regard the refusal as in some way a slight to herself, and was correspondingly downcast and irritable. Wholly out of sorts, she had let him go to the deck alone.

Facing over the bow he suddenly perceived a faint silver radiance close to the horizon. His first impression was that the boat had taken a southeasterly course, and this argent-gleam was merely the banner of the rising moon. Immediately he knew better; except the absolute disruption of cosmic law, the moon could not rise for at least four hours. He knew of no coast light anywhere in the region, and it was hard to believe that he had caught the far-off glimmer of a ship's light. Seemingly such followers of the sea had been left far behind them.

But as he watched the light grew. His own pulse quickened. And presently a radiant streamer burst straight upward like a rocket, fluttered a moment, and died away.

A strange thrill and stir moved through the intricacy of his nerves. He knew now what this light portended; it was known to every wayfarer in the North, yet the keenest excitement took hold of him.

"The Northern Lights!" he told himself. A quiver of exultation passed over him.

A few feet distant on the deck Bess' eyes turned from the miracle in the skies to watch the slowly growing light in Ned Cornet's face. It was well enough for him to find his inspiration in the majesty of nature. Bess was a woman, and that meant that man that is born of woman was her work and her being. She turned her eyes from God to behold this man.

VIII

BEFORE ever that long night was done, clouds had overswept the sky and a cold rain was beating upon the sea.

The drizzle changed to snow that lay white on the deck and hissed softly in the water.

Once more the craft plied among islands, but now that they had passed into Bering sea the character of the land had changed. These were not the dull-green, wooded isles met with on first entering Alaskan waters. Wild and inhospitable though the latter had seemed, they were fairly bowers compared to these. Nor did the mossy mainland continue to show a marvelous beryl green through mist.

The truth was that these islands were far-scattered fragments of the Barrens, those great wastes of moss and tundra between the timber belt and the eternal ice cap of the pole.

Lately the ship had taken a northern turn, following the island chain, and the cloudy, windy, rainy days found them not far from the mainland, in a region that would be wholly ice-bound in a few weeks more. And when they were still a full day from their turning point, Knutson sought out Ned on the deck.

"Mr. Cornet, do you know where we're getting?" he asked quietly. Unconsciously startled by his tone, Ned whirled toward him. "I don't know these waters," he replied. "I suppose we're approaching Muchino Island."

"Quite a stiff between here and der, yet, Mr. Cornet, we're getting der to most unknown and untraveled waters in all dis part of the North. De boats to Nome go way outside here, and de trut is I'm way out of my old haunts. I'm traveling by chair only neither me nor McNab, nor very many other people know very much the water-ways between dese islands. You're up here to trade for furs, and you haven't got all winter. You know dat dese waters here shut off from de currents, are going to be tighter dan a drum before very many weeks. Why don't you make your destination Tzar Island, and start back from der?"

"Not really dangerous, maybe, but mighty awkward if anyt'ing should go wrong wit' de old brig. You understand dat not one out of four of dese little islands is inhabited. Some of de larger islands have only a scattered village or two; some of 'em have't a living human being. Der's plenty and plenty of islands not even named in dis chart, and I'd hate to hit the reefs of one after dark! Der's no one to send S. O. S. calls to, in case of trouble, even if we had wireless. De only boat I know dat works carefully through dis country is anoter trader, the Intrepid—and dat won't be along till spring. Mr. Cornet, it's best for you to know dat you're in one of the most uninhabited and barren countries."

"And the most dreary and generally damnable," Ned agreed with enthusiasm. "Why didn't you tell me this before?" Muchino Island isn't anything in my young life. I picked it out as a starting point simply because it was the farthest north of the Skopins, but since there seems to be plenty of territory."

"It will make you hump some to cover all de good territory now, including some of the best of de Aleuts, and get around Alaskan Peninsula before winter sets in, in earnest, Tzar Island is yust to our north-east. Shall I head toward it?"

"How long will it take?"

"Depends on de wind. Dis is a ticklish stretch of water in here, shallow in spots, but safe enough. I guess, I think we can skim along and make it in long before dawn."

"Then do it!" Ned's face suddenly brightened. "The sooner I can shake my legs on shore, the better I'll like it."

The seaman left him, and for a moment Ned stood almost drunk with exultation on the deck. Even now they were nearing the journey's end.

Presently he turned, made his way into the hold and opened one of a pile of iron-bound wooden cases. When he returned to the dining saloon he carried a dark bottle in each hand.

"All hands celebrate tonight!" he cried. "We're going to go home!"

Out of the sea the wind seemed to answer him. It swept by, laugh-

While C. E. Walker's handsome new Princess playhouse on North Main street is under construction, actual work on which began last night, the theater's coming picture attractions will be shown, starting tonight, at the New Princess, formerly the Lyric, on East Fourth street.

"The Forgotten Law," starring Milton Sills, will be shown tonight. The New Princess has been entirely remodeled and the same grade of high-class productions will be shown there as was exhibited at the Main street theater.

HAROLD LLOYD'S LATEST
HERE SATURDAY

For every foot of film that was used in Harold Lloyd's new feature thrill comedy, "Safety Last," which begins a week's engagement at the West End theater Saturday, virtually nine feet were thrown into the cutting basket. And that just goes to show further the tireless efforts of the popular young comedian in turning out a comedy—a comedy that must satisfy him in every way before he will permit it to leave the studio.

While critics have analyzed the success of Harold Lloyd and praised his versatility, his personality and his vision, many of them have missed a big point. There is one dominating factor back of the young comedian's success—he never has been afraid to work. And now, at the top of his career, he works harder than ever before to maintain the standard he has set in the past.

When "Safety Last" comes to the West End no one will doubt the fact that Harold Lloyd is a glutton for work. Two reels of the offering show Harold climbing the side of a twelve story building and the thrills brought about by the many obstacles he encounters in his dizzy climb surpass anything that has ever been filmed, or anything that ever will be, for that matter. The picture also has a charming love story with Mildred Davis, of course, being the girl in the case.

OBsolete LAW IS CRUX
OF PRINCESS FILM.

There are many obsolete laws on the statute books which would arouse tremendous indignation were there an effort to enforce them. Many of the so-called "blue laws" of England, which prevent singing on Sunday, as an example, are still on the statute books. Some of these laws make it criminal to travel on Sundays, which would immediately militate against all motoring, all railways and trolley systems.

Such a situation is the basis of "The Forgotten Law," showing at the new Princess, which invokes an ancient law of the reign of Charles II, by which a father could will a child away from the custody of the mother.

In "The Forgotten Law," a child is willed by the father into the custody of the father's brother. Thus commences a war between the brother and the wife, culminating in a scene of tremendous dramatic appeal.

A notable cast portrays the action of Mrs. Stanley's story. Leading players are Milton Sills, Jack Mulhall and Cleo Ridgely.

CRUZE DIRECTS DIRECTOR
IN "HOLLYWOOD"

Directing a director! It's not many directors who get such an assignment.

Therefore, in "Hollywood," James Cruze stands distinctive, as Cecil B. De Mille is one of the most notable players in this unique screen novelty which discloses nearly a score of the most famous persons in filmdom.

Cruze found his director-player exceedingly easy to handle, however, for long before he became a director De Mille was a stage ing.

NED'S news was received with the keenest delight by Lenore and Mrs. Hardenworth. The latter regained her lost amiability with promptness. Lenore's reaction was not dissimilar from Ned's; in her own again.

NEW PRINCESS TO SHOW BIG FILM PLAYS

The Princess, one of Santa Ana's theatrical landmarks, entertained its last audience last night.

As soon as the last scene of its photoplay attraction flicked out, work immediately was begun on tearing down the show house to make way for the beautiful new $85,000 theater to be constructed on the same site by Manager C. E. Walker.

While construction of this theater is being made, the same high class pictures that have been shown at the Main street playhouse in the past will be exhibited at the New Princess, formerly the Lyric theater, 218 East Fourth street. This theater has been remodeled both inside and out.

Manager Walker has booked a number of widely heralded photoplays for early showing at the New Princess.

Among these are Buster Keaton in "Three Ages"; Mae Murray in "The French Doll"; Viola Dana in "Roughed Lips"; Reginald Denny in "The Spice of Life"; Edward (Hoot) Gibson in "Blinky"; Herbert Rawlinson in "The Cleanup"; "The Victor," and "Jack O' Lantern"; William Desmond and Rint-Tin-Tin in "Shadows of the North"; Milton Sills in "Legally Dead," and "A Lady of Quality"; Viola Dana in "In Search of a Thrill"; Hoot Gibson in "The Pony Express Rider."

J. Warren Kerrigan in "Thundering Down"; James Kirkwood in "The Eagle's Feather"; Warner Baxter and Ralph Lewis in "Blow Your Own Horn"; Jackie Coogan in "Long Live the King"; Gladys Walton in "The Untamable"; and Richard Talmadge in "The Fast Freight."

The couple have a son, aged 11, who is with his mother. Attorney Clyde Bishop filed the action for divorce on behalf of Mrs. Campbell.

Thus for the first time the world will be shown the famous room in which Pola Negri, Thomas Meighan, Gloria Swanson, William S. Hart, Agnes Ayers and many others were changed in a minute from leading players to famous stars.

"LAWFUL LARCENY" PLEAS

AUDIENCE AT YOST

Allan Dwan's latest production, "Lawful Larceny," caught on in great shape at the Yost theater last night, when it was presented for the first time in this city.

Hope Hampton, Nita Naldi, Lew Cody and Conrad Nagel are featured in the cast, which also includes Russell Griffin, Yvonne Hughes, Dolores Costello, Gilda Gray, Florence O'Denishawn and Alice Malson. The story, a picturization of a well known stage success, is a swift-moving tale of the intrigue of woman against man with the honor of a happy home hanging in the balance. As the wife Hope Hampton is highly artistic.

Miss Naldi, in an Egyptian episode of rare beauty, wears several bizarre creations which literally took the breath away from the women in the audience. Conrad Nagel plays the husband role to perfection and Cody is a decidedly hateful villain.

"Lawful Larceny" is a production that is sure to rank high among the other successful pictures of the current season. It is a picture all alike will appreciate and enjoy.

EVENING SALUTATION

Anything that looks toward the help, the comfort, the uplift, of any soul, anywhere, is worth the doing, however small it may be. Men may not appreciate it, but because God puts a value on it, open your eyes to His estimate, and respond to His demand. That will make it well worth doing.

—John H. Lockwood.

READY TO GIVE AID

California is ready to help Japan in Japan's hour of distress. Whatever differences we may have had with the Japanese, those differences are forgotten. Today we see a people in the midst of untold suffering, and our hearts and our purses are open.

The American Red Cross has been named by President Coolidge as the "authoritative" agent of relief. There are other agencies, to be sure, that will pour their food and clothing into the ports of Japan. All of them will join in the great work of relieving distress.

With its organization, and having the confidence of the American people, the Red Cross was naturally selected as the central agent. Experienced in handling relief following catastrophes, the officials of the organization will distribute supplies in an orderly and effective fashion.

BILLIONS LOST TO WORLD

The most amazing thing, perhaps, about the work of Luther Burbank, the great naturalist, is the way the world has neglected to take advantage of his discoveries. The story of loss to mankind through indifference, as told by Mr. Burbank in a recent issue of the Dearborn Independent, is almost incredible.

The naturalist tells, simply and straightforwardly, how he has been developing new plants for 60 years, and is now producing more new and improved varieties in one day than he used to produce in 20 years. He averages, he says, "at least 1,000 a year of better forms of plant life than ever before existed." The new creations include fruits, flowers, vegetables, nuts, grains and trees. He has 13 acres of land at Sebastopol, Calif., that would be worth billions of dollars an acre if all the new creations upon it were introduced to the world and put to use. And what becomes of them.

The only way the new plants can be distributed, he explains, is through seedsmen and nursery men. And none of them want more than two or three new plants a year, because it "disorganizes their business." Thus he can put out only a small fraction of his discoveries. The rest stay on the land where they are produced, unused and unknown to the public, and most of them are lost to the world because he cannot take care of them.

"I am 74 years old," says Mr. Burbank. "My strength is good for my age, but not what it used to be. I sold part of my Sebastopol experimental farm for a cemetery because I could no longer operate it. The remainder will have to go for the same reason. When I am tired, I sometimes feel that if the world does not care if the best varieties of plant life the earth has ever produced go to waste, I don't care, either."

"The human race needs these superior forms of plant life very much. But the world moves slowly, weighed down as with a great lethargy—a great inertia. It is much more difficult to introduce an improved form of plant life than it is to create it."

Here, surely is an opportunity for some philanthropist to perform a wonderful service to the human race by preserving and distributing what Mr. Burbank has created. And if private philanthropy or private business refuses to undertake the salvaging of all those treasures, why should not the United States government do it, through the Department of Agriculture?

A RAIDROAD'S VISION

Engineers have recently completed a hydro-electric survey of the Colorado river with a view to future electrification of the Santa Fe railroad. Although immediate electrification is not contemplated, the fact of the survey is interesting and encouraging. The day no doubt will come when the streams which tumble down the mountain sides of the great Rockies will furnish the power which pulls mighty railroad trains through and over and around those same mountains.

Such trains will be cleaner and more powerful than the ones now in use. If one railroad is definitely looking toward such electrification, others must also be doing so, and when one starts the work others are likely to follow in rapid succession. Soot and cinder-free railroads, soot and cinder-free cities—it is all quite possible and the vision has already been seen.

ONTARIO'S CLEAN WATERS

One of the reasons why Ontario has been able to maintain her great playground country as a commercial asset is that she was foresighted enough to enact laws, early in the game, providing for the cleanliness of her waters. It is not only a matter of bad manners and low intelligence to throw garbage or refuse of any sort into a running stream there as it is elsewhere, but in Ontario it is also a matter of law and of enforcement.

A good many states might do well to take a leaf from this book of the North country and look out for what are left of their clean streams before it is too late.

BEAUTY FROM FOOD

The reader of the beauty hint column may be disappointed to find that proper food, sufficient rest and regular exercise are the leading recommendations of the beauty specialist.

It seems so much simpler to pin one's faith to creams and lotions and similar articles than to accept health as the first step to beauty and to pursue it steadfastly. Nevertheless a group of food authorities and educators recently formulated a list of home beauty products among which carrots and milk and oatmeal and cream are named as more effective and permanent in their beautifying effects than rouge and powders and vanishing creams.

These aids to beauty are even being taught in some public school classes and are likely to produce excellent results among growing boys and girls.

THE LONGEST FLIGHT

In the recent experiments of the Post Office Department, proving that air mail could be carried from New York to San Francisco in twenty-eight hours, five planes and crews were used to cross the continent. The remarkable endurance flight of Captain Smith and Lieutenant Richter at San Diego, subsequently, shows that it is possible for one crew and plane to carry mail from coast to coast in the same length of time.

These two aviators flew 5,300 kilometers continuously, in a circular course. That is about 3,300 miles, considerably more than the distance between San Francisco and New York. Their time, thirty-seven hours, would have been less for the distance covered if their course had been straight. Going straight West or East, with facilities for fueling in full flight, they might have avoided landing en route even for gasoline, thus linking the oceans in one clean "hop."

That may be done regularly before any of us are much older.

There's many a slip twixt the hiccup and hip.

One Who Came Back

Fresno Republican.

One of the few men in public life on either side of the Atlantic to "come back" has been Raymond Poincare, now the prime minister of France.

The prime minister or premier in France, like the prime minister in Great Britain and in most countries of Europe, is the most powerful individual in the nation. Unlike other executives, however, he does not continue in position any longer than he has the power. A shift of political advantage and he is out of office, as well as out of prestige.

Poincare had been premier of France. And then, after the retirement of Fallieres, Poincare was elected President for the seven years terms.

Being President should have put him on the shelf. For seven years he preserved the dignity and the limitations alike of the presidential office. The presidency in France is an honorary position, created to fulfill in a republic the shadowy authority of a king in a constitutional monarchy. The French are jealous to see that their President for seven years is just as weak as weak of France ever all lifetime. To have a President of the United States would horrify them. They would probably have made Clemenceau President at the end of Poincare's term, had they not been afraid that Clemenceau would have tried to be a sort of American President.

Poincare was the sort of President the French want. He presided at dinners. He gracefully greeted ambassadors. He visited battlefields and made the sort of speeches that the cabinet desired him to make. He saluted heroes on both cheeks. And then he came back. He is the only President of France who has been a figure following his term of office. His seven years in the Presidency were just a period of recuperation. Again he is the executive. He is holding the Ruhr. He is politely telling the power of Great Britain and the public opinion of the world to mind their own business. Poincare "came back."

Our Administration of Law

San Francisco Chronicle.

In two addresses which Chief Justice Taft delivered at the meeting of the American Bar Association at Minneapolis, he deplored the increasing delay in the judiciary, which, in great measure, he attributed to the wearisome delays of the law, which wear out litigants of the smaller means, thereby, in practice, making possible the triumph of injustice by the sheer weight of the money of the richer party. The remedy for that is expediting litigation, a movement for which, in fact, is assuming national importance. It proposes a reorganization of the judiciary and the bar, with greater power to the judges. The trouble is that elected judges in large cities do not dare to exercise the power which they already have. But much can be done by increasing the power of the appellate courts and insisting on settling all technical matters before trial, so that the trial court has nothing to consider except the merits of the case. This will never be done except by a resolute display of public opinion.

This movement for judicial reform has the earnest support of the leaders of the bar of all States. It is more or less silently, but steadily, approved by the lawyers whom we elect to legislatures and who have always controlled legislative action on judicial subjects. Whenever the public, which includes the litigants who pay the bills and suffer the tortures of litigation, revolt we shall get reform of judicial procedure and not till then.

Civilizing the Indian

San Francisco Chronicle.

According to a story from Arizona the Indian Bureau has threatened to put a stop to the time-honored Hopi snake dance, on the ground that half-naked Indians dancing with snakes between their teeth is not an edifying spectacle.

When there are so many useful things needing to be done it seems that the Indian Bureau might use its energy better than by destroying a ceremony which does no one any harm, appears to do the Indians a lot of good, and is certainly an interesting event, both as a spectacle and as a living document of early human history.

But the Indian Bureau has always been that way. We remember when it was jailing the Navajos and persecuting them in every possible manner to try to make the men out of their hair shirts. It was no question of cleanliness, since no white woman shampoos her hair oftener than does the Navajo man, who wears his done up in a psychic knot at the back of his neck.

But some solemn wisecracks in the Indian Bureau imagined that if the Navajo would cut his hair white man style he would be a civilized white man per se.

CARBUNCLES.

If you were asked what was the difference between a carbuncle and a boil, your answer would be that a carbuncle seemed to be just an actual nest or group of boils. And such is the case.

Carbuncles are more serious in that, whereas a boil may mean a simple irritation and infection of a single hair or oil gland, a carbuncle is a more dangerous condition, as it reflects a generally low condition of the health.

It occurs usually in men past forty who are not getting the proper nourishment from their food. Some of the body processes have fallen down in their work.

The carbuncle starts just like a boil, only it is much larger and darker looking. Within three or four days however, small white spots appear on the surface, and in about three days more, these white spots burst open and pus pours out. The skin between the opening breaks down and from this large central hole thus made plugs of pus from the various holes escape.

During this time the patient is feeling very miserable and weak.

Now in the case of the boil, simple cleanliness was the big factor, and you were likely able to take care of things yourself.

With the carbuncle it is a different matter; and when you see that what you thought was a boil is really a carbuncle, you would be wise to place yourself in the hands of your physician at once.

You see your strength must be maintained by proper food and possibly stimulants. Further, incision and scraping is so often necessary, and this must be done in a clean manner, therefore you should be looked after by your physician.

Don't take any chances with a carbuncle. Its possibilities for trouble are great.

What is Education?

Modesto News.

As Dr. Aurelia Reinhardt, president of Mills College, recently told us during a speech here, every educator has his favorite definition of education.

Dr. W. W. Campbell, president of the University of California, gave his definition of education yesterday in welcoming 10,000 students to the university. His definition follows:

"Education does not consist in acquiring a lot of facts, or in reading about theories which seem to explain the facts. The student should develop his mental powers; he should learn to do things by doing them. Otherwise he resembles a sponge, in that he is never able to give out more than he absorbs. The student's real education comes in thinking for himself."

But many who think for themselves have minds so erratic as to be beyond control. Unless the mind has a background against which to test out its thoughts, the mere thinking for itself may become a dangerous process.

Dr. Reinhardt gave us her favorite definition: "American education must be comprehensive enough to include the varied occupations of our great people; it must take into account our rapid developing methods of thought; and it must include the great ideals of living which are transforming humanity."

Why not combine the two definitions from the educators of Berkeley and Oakland? Then we have an education that means not only independence of thought but a sufficient foundation upon which to build a new structure of our own.

But Dr. Campbell probably did not intend to belittle the value of the knowledge of facts when he gave his definition of education, for later on in his speech, referring to criticism of the university by students, he said:

"Be sure you have the facts, that you get the correct point of view. Do not take part in negative, destructive criticism. Good sportsmanship condemns it. Seek, on the contrary, for criticism of the constructive sort. Before tearing down the things which exist which have something to offer in substitution for them."

So probably Dr. Campbell himself will accept our amendment to his definition of education.

EARTH'S SWEETNESS

I sometimes wonder if all earth's sweetness—
The wild, sweet mystery of the spring,
The deep-toned summer's divine completeness,
Autumn's flaming and flashing fleetness—
Profit the soul in its wandering.

Days have been when the whole earth quivered
With radiant rapture too keen to bear—
Cold, pure nights when the white stars shivered,
Golden sunsets from storm delivered,
Twilights holy and hushed as prayer.

But the fair dream fades and the wild joy wavers
And the light recedes on the farther hills,
Again the voice of the commonplace quavers
Through fairy fancies, and dull life savors Naught of the cup enchantment fills.
But a pitch-black midnight ablaze with pain
Through which my unstayed soul made way,
Losing its grief in a larger gain
Blossoms with beauty within my brain,
And shall sweeten my dying day.

Some Odds and Ends

GENEROSITY

Ernest L. Sawyer advertises in the London Daily Express: "On the day it is proved that the grafting of an eye can be performed with a reasonable certainty of success, I shall be willing freely to share my gift of sight with any poor English man, woman or child who is blind, whose circumstances can be vouched for, and the advisability of whose case is recommended by a responsible authority."

There is always hope for a world that has generous humanitarians like Sawyer, forerunners of a day when the brotherhood of man will be so world-wide that generosity like the gift of an eye to an unfortunate fellow-man will be customary.

Life is never any more miserable than humanity makes it.

SPEEDERS

Sweden, determined to check auto speeders, passes a national law making it compulsory for all autos to be equipped with speedometers that will make a record showing how fast the car has been run. No arguments with the traffic cop then.

Unfortunately, after passing the law, the Swedish Riksdag discovered no such speedometer has been invented.

We'll have such devices in America eventually. Also, as autos approach the saturation point, we'll have to gear cars down so it will be impossible to run them more than, say, 20 miles an hour.

GOLD

Ancient alchemists sought a method to create gold from cheaper substances, especially lead. Modern alchemists seek to destroy gold, says Dr. Paul D. Foote, government scientist, because one dram of gold destroyed by transformation into electrical energy would be worth $2,600,000 at the present price of electricity.

The chief goal of modern science is how to release the energy locked up in the atom. The discovery will be made some day. Political revolutions fire our imagination, but the greatest of all revolutions is the industrial one that is taking place in our generation.

DANGER

A schoolhouse burns down every day in America, on the average, warns Dr. George Drayton Strayer. Luckily, most of the fires are at night.

In educating children, we neglect the important item of teaching them the dangers of fires, how to extinguish fires and how to escape when trapped in one. This form of education should begin in the home. Drill into your children's minds, that fire is the most perilous force harnessed by man.

Sea Monsters

The chief abode of the weird monsters of the deep about which mariners have spun yarns for more than 200 years, are the submerged mountains and valleys that run along the West African coast from Gambia to Sierra Leone, according to Arthur K. Sampson, a Canadian mining engineer. Nearly all the sea serpent stories originated in these regions, Mr. Sampson says, and have been regarded by the people of other countries as myths. Invented by imaginative sailors. Certain sections along the coast, he says are avoided by the native fishermen, who dread the monsters, which they declare rise to the surface about sundown and lash the sea into fury with their immense tails.—Toronto Mail and Express.

About Electricity

The unit of electrical current is the ampere.
The unit of electrical pressure which causes the current to flow through a conductor is the volt.
One ampere of current at one volt of pressure equals one watt of power.
A kilowatt is 1000 watts.
A kilowatt hour is 1000 watts for one hour.
A horsepower hour is 746 watts for one hour.
Ten 100-watt lamps burning for one hour consumes one kilowatt hour of current.
Forty 25-watt lamps burning for one hour consume one kilowatt hour of current.—Public Service News Bulletin.

The Lucky Stiff

By Berton Braley
"The lucky stiff!" I hear you say.
"I wonder how he got that way?"
Well, he had luck, beyond a doubt;
We all have, when you dope it out:
But he's a chap who, every day,
Plays out the hand he has to play
And wins what will or come what may.
He "follows through" and "goes the route,"
"The Lucky Stiff."

He grabs each chance without delay,
He never lets it go astray.
So, if there's any luck about,
He holds to it with courage stout.
That's briefly, "how he got that way!"
"The Lucky Stiff."

JOHNNIE of the CIRCUS and his CUFFY BEAR ~
~ By ARTHUR SCOTT BAILEY

Beelzebub's heels shot out as quick as lightning.

And the Lion Tamer landed in a puddle of water.

MR. BLACK AND BEELZEBUB.

Soon after he joined the circus, Johnnie Green fell into the habit of spending a good deal of his time at the horse tent. He liked horses. He liked Tom, the boss hostler. Now and then Tom sent him into a town, on horseback, to do an errand. Once in a while he let Johnnie groom some of the gentler horses.

It was to the horse tent that Mr. Black, the formidable Lion Tamer, came one day. He looked as fearless as ever, as became a man who performed a feat that other men, as they said, wouldn't do for a million dollars.

"Hey, bub!" he addressed Johnnie Green from behind one of his forbidding cigars. "Where's Tom? I want to speak to him."

Johnnie was entranced. This was the first time Mr. Black had designed to notice him.

"He's at the other end of the tent, Mister," Johnnie answered.

Mr. Black stared down the long passage behind one of the rows of horses which stood, face to face, with a barrier between them. He hesitated. He glanced out of doors. It was raining that day. And Mr. Black was wearing a new checked suit of which he seemed quite proud, and careful.

If he had intended to walk around the tent, he changed his mind. With a sidelong glance at the horses' heels, he strode along behind them.

Of course Johnnie Green couldn't take his eyes off the Lion Tamer. He didn't dare hurry after him, he said, he had a feeling that Mr. Black would wheel about and fix him with his burning black eyes and ask him what he meant by it.

The Lion Tamer was in the act of passing behind a troublesome black horse named Beelzebub, when Johnnie saw him stop short and start to turn back. Mr. Black was too late. Beelzebub's hind feet shot out as quick as lightning and landed squarely upon the new checked trousers. Their owner sailed gracefully through the air.

He fell outside the open tent in a puddle of water. And there he lay, roaring for all the world like a wounded lion.

Tom the boss hostler, and his men, and Johnnie Green all ran to help him. They lifted Mr. Black and set him upon his feet. Johnnie Green himself picked up his black slouch hat and handed it to him shyly. Johnnie was astonished to see that he was trembling.

"I was a-goin' to ask you a question, Tom," the Lion Tamer growled in a husky voice. "Tut that hoss knocked it clean out 'a my head. I wouldn't have your job around these hosses—not if Jim Brown paid me a million dollars!"
